BERLIN LAUNCHES SERIES OF RAIDS AGAINST NAZIS

Government Claims Sweeping Invasions of Hitlerites' Headquarters Necessary To Block "Civil War" in Reich.

SUDDEN ATTACK REPORTED PLAN

Authorities Claim Code Message Was To Have Mobilized 500,000 "Fas- cists" for War.

MOBILIZATION OF MEN ADMITTED BY HITLER

MUNICH, Germany, March 17. (AP)—Adolf Hitler acknowledged here today that concentration orders had gone out to his men, but he said they were merely protective, as 40 of his comrades had been killed and thousands wounded in the last few weeks by "red savages."

The fascist chief said he would furnish ample proof tomorrow that Karl Severing, the Prussian minister of the interior, had been driven by sheer panic in ordering the raids.

Asserting that he long had known the raid was planned, Hitler said:

"Severing knows the seizure of power by the national socialists is only a question of time, but this maneuver will not save his party from coming to ruin."

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.—BERLIN, March 17. (AP)—Fascist party throughout Prussia were raided today by police acting on orders to smash what Prussian officials declared was a plot to plunge Germany into civil war and seize power by force of arms.

In addition to visiting the offices of the party the police searched the homes of many Nazi leaders. They confiscated numerous files of correspondence and membership lists.

Prussian officials declared they had established that 500,000 Hitler "storm troops," including automobile and motorcycle detachments, had been made ready for mobilization at various points throughout the state.

A code message—"Grandmother dead"—was to be broadcast throughout Prussia, these officials said, and it was to be the signal for each unit to march upon the nearest large city.

German political police and espionage investigators, it was learned, have been working secretly for some time to obtain the plans of the Nazis and recently they have uncovered stores of arms and ammunitions declared by them to be the property of the Hitler followers.

Hitler ran a poor second to President Paul von Hindenburg in the indecisive election last Monday. He already has announced that he will stand against the president in the "run-off" election to be held April 10.

Officials of his party declared in Munich that the series of raids was a

'Red' Foster's Slayer Dead; 'Courage Fund' Is Started

Killer of Detective Succumbs to Wounds In- flicted by Officer; Rogers, Inc., Tops List Aiding Widow and Children.

Searching the city with vigilance and vigor intensified by the love they bore their valiant comrade-in-arms who fell Wednesday night before bandit guns in single-handed defense of law and order, detectives Thursday night announced that all three of the surviving negroes involved in the slaying of Detective Frank C. (Red) Foster are in custody. Harold White, 16, vi. fired the shots which killed Detective Foster and who was in turn wounded by the officer, died Thursday night at Grady hospital.

White and two of the three negroes held admitted their participation in the crime, and the fourth man has been implicated by the others, although he denies that he was involved, police said.

Detective Foster's courage when armed bandits confronted him will be rewarded with a substantial fund to protect his little family against want. The husband and father's earnings power cut off in the prime of his life, members of his family will not want because he did not consider the cost in doing his own duty. Acting on the suggestion of Herbert Moore, vice president of Rogers, Inc., who heads the list with $50, The Constitution has inaugurated a "Courage Fund" for the Foster family. Contributions will be received by this paper and forwarded to the widow of the fearless officer, who devoted a great deal of his time to clearing up bandit depredations on merchants.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, an intimate personal friend of Foster, Thursday announced that the murder will be brought before the grand jury on Tuesday if the police perfect their case in time. Boykin gave out a statement appealing for united action

HOUSE BODY VOTES IMMIGRATION CUT 90 Per Cent Slash in All Classifications Approved by Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—A 90 per cent cut in all immigration, western hemisphere as well as old world, was approved today by the house immigration committee.

Urged as an unemployment measure, the restriction resolution by Representative Moore, democrat, Kentucky, reducing all quotas to 10 per cent of their present status and putting Canada, Mexico, Central and South American countries on restricted quota bases, was voted by committee members.

Deliberations on a score of exclusion bills, which Senator Dickinson had predicted would cause the rest of the month, were thus cut short in the swift surprise action of a single member's session.

Dickinson explained that individual resolutions would provide for the reuniting of families, aged parents and hundreds of American citizens having already been reported favorably for non-quota status. A future bill, he said, would care for wives and children of aliens lawfully in the United States.

Under the measure, the western hemisphere countries would be given an annual quota fixed by ascertaining the number of non-quota immigration visas issued to natives of the respective countries during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and taking 10 per cent of that number as the maximum to be admitted.

The date for cutting short non-quota visas from new world countries was set at July 1, 1932.

Patriotic societies urged the 90 per cent restriction measure and representatives of various nationalities opposed it. Rabbi Wise, of New York, made an eloquent plea against further restriction.

A minor restriction measure, excluding from this country all alien actors except those that can prove themselves artists, was also reported favorably.

Motion picture representatives argued it was necessary for the new immigration law to be made effective to American films to be shown abroad.

Otherwise, they said the translators "ghost" films, Hollywood "brogue" and the films were of acceptable abroad. This drew from Chairman Dickinson the statement that "almost all of his party declared in support of the measure and non-unemployed in the United States."

LARGE LOBBY FUND REVEALED IN VOTE ON POWER EXPORT

New England Executives Testify to Efforts To Obtain Favorable Ballot On Referendum.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—The federal trade commission had directly today from two utilities company officials the story of the New England Public Service Company's activities to secure legislation permitting export of surplus hydro-electric power from Maine.

Walter S. Wyman, president of the New England corporation, and Carroll N. Perkins, a director, were called from the company's headquarters at Augusta, Maine, and gave testimony on the expenditure in 1929 of nearly $200,000 to secure a favorable vote on a state-wide referendum. The referendum was on a legislative act which would have permitted hydro-electric power export, forbidden by the Fernald law of 1900. It was defeated by a small margin.

Their testimony followed a ruling by Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch that such testimony was pertinent to the commission's inquiry into the company's financial structure.

William T. Chantland, a commission attorney, first described his inspection of the company's records of the campaign activities in which, he said, $196,139.86 was spent to secure a favorable vote.

When he went to Augusta last year to inquire into the campaign activities, Chantland said, the company detailed to him "without question" the campaign activities in which, he said, $196,139.86 was spent to secure a favorable vote.

Officials of the company explained that correspondence on the campaign had been destroyed because the room it occupied had been needed, he said, but added they felt a record of the expenditures, which had been kept, would be sufficient.

Chantland offered in evidence photostatic copies of records of payments of approximately $131,000 to county representatives of the company for "personal services" during the campaign.

He also recounted that officials of the company had told him that Dempsey J. Murphy, a city man, the direct owner of the New England, had been sent to Maine during the campaign.

Following Chantland to the stand, Wyman asserted there was "no secret" about his company's efforts to secure a favorable vote in the 1929 referendum.

Wyman described the defeat of the measure as "unfortunate," and said it was a "great loss" to his company. The Central Maine Power Company, a constituent company of the New England, had had a record of 13,113 in 1924. Republicans in 1901 precincts cast a little more than 50,000 votes, giving France 31,066 votes and Corey 21,842.

In order to carry out the program, a market for such surplus power could not be sold in Maine had to be found outside the state, he said. The company has a two-fold purpose in its campaign in the referendum, he added. One was to inform the people of the benefits which would accrue if surplus power could be legally exported and the other was to secure as large a possible vote.

Our efforts to accomplish these purposes were necessarily expensive. All costs were paid by the New England Public Service Company from profits on securities bought some years ago and sold in 1929. None of our expense was charged to the operating light and power company.

Woman Shoots Rival
For Gasoline Trade

ADLER, Ga., March 17. (AP)—Mrs. L. M. Stephens, 30, is in the local hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the breast, which, according to police officers, was fired by another woman.

Mrs. F. M. Foulk is in the Lowndes county jail at Valdosta, where she is held on an open charge pending the outcome of the wounds. The officers charge that she is the one who fired upon Mrs. Stephens.

Mrs. Foulk has operated a filling station three miles south of Lenox, in this county, for a number of years. Mrs. Stephens and her husband opened a filling station on the opposite side of the road recently.

County officers who investigated said that ever since the two stations entered into competition for the business of the highway, there has been ill feeling.

State Takes Title to New Prison Farm Site; Will Separate Old Criminals, Young Felons

Assistant Attorney-General William King Meadow, left, presenting the prison farm site deed to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Between the governor and Meadow is Judge Vivian Stanley, chairman of the legislative committee which negotiated the purchase, and at the right, is Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway board. Highway funds were used for the land purchase and will supplement other funds for construction of the first four units on the farm. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

A guaranteed title to 6,335 acres of farm land in Tattall and Toombs counties passed from the former owners to the state of Georgia Thursday afternoon and the prison commission at once announced that an inspection of the newly-acquired property will be made this month to plan modern buildings for a new state prison farm.

After the expenses of surveying and for title insurance have been deducted, the purchase price, $117,000, was an average of slightly more than $18 an acre. The remainder of $200,000 appropriated by the general assembly will be used for construction of four new buildings which, when completed, will mark the introduction of a new prison policy.

Youthful, or first time offenders, are to be housed in a building separate from hardened criminals, Judge Vivian L. Stanley, member of the commission, announced Thursday. Four new buildings are to be constructed for first-term whites, hardened white criminals, first-term negroes and hardened negro criminals.

Present plans of the commission, Judge Stanley said, will keep females of both races at the present farm in Milledgeville. Quarters for the tubercular colony, which has given the prison commission one of its most sensational escapes, are to be strengthened and this group of prisoners also will remain at the present farm.

Deeds for the two tracts from J. V. Kelley and J. R. Broadhurst, which have been recorded in Toombs and Tattall counties, were delivered to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Thursday afternoon by William King Meadow, assistant attorney-general, who passed upon the title to the new property. Present at the delivery of the deeds were Judge Stanley and Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway board. The appropriation, authorized by the special session of the general assembly last year, is from highway funds.

With the title cleared and the property in the possession of the state, Judge Stanley, with Judge O. A. Evans, another member of the commission; B. P. McWhorter, chief engineer of the highway board; Captain Barnett, and Assistant Attorney General Meadow, will go to Milledgeville on March 28 and from the present farm go on to the new farm to make building plans.

In so far as practical, Judge Stanley said Thursday, prison labor will be used in the construction of the new penitentiary units.

More Exemptions Sought.
Doughton urged defeat of the sales tax law, terming it as "an abominable" measure.

Ragon served notice he would propose several amendments to exempt cheap clothing and shoes from its 2.25 per cent tax. He said that for the provision because, he said, it was needed to balance the 1933 budget.

More than 100 amendments are to be offered, including one by the ways and means committee to exclude canned fruit and vegetables from the sales tax and another to place a 4 cent a pound tax on imported copper.

Final action on the bill will come before late next week. An effort to be made by Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, independent leader, to have the sales provision sent back to the committee for the purpose of substituting heavy excise taxes on selected industries.

G. O. P. to Caucus.
At the insistence of the irregulars, Representative Snell, of New York, republican leader, has called a caucus conference of his party to discuss the sales provision tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, he says and means committee will propose additional amendments to the section which are expected to produce enough additional votes to carry the bill.

Asserting the government was running behind its receipts $7,822,000 a day, Rainey told the house "we now have a public debt $5,000,000,000 and we will pay an annual

Majority Leader Says Cut Won't Save Much But Will Be Valuable Psychologically.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—Concluding seven days of bitter debate over the $1,000,000,000 revenue bill tonight, the house cleared the way for the real test on the measure tomorrow when its reading for amendment will begin.

In the afternoon Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the democratic leader, told the house if the budget is not balanced this country "will experience the worst panic in the history of the world."

"The government's credit is destroyed," he said, "the present time is a great emergency, with almost unlimited wealth, depleted, but artificially depleted, is bankrupt."

He added that the manufacturers sales tax was the fair and just way to meet the situation.

At the night session two democratic members of the ways and means committee—Representative Doughton of North Carolina, opponent of the sales tax, and Representative Ragon, of Arkansas, a proponent—brought the discussion to an end.

ROOSEVELT ADDS TO PRIMARY LEAD

North Dakota Democratic Vote Over Six Times as Great as Previous High.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)
FARGO, N. D., March 17. (AP)—Additional returns late today increased the record democratic vote cast Tuesday in the North Dakota primary election to more than 74,000 and gave Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, unqualified victory in his contest for the democratic presidential preference.

Joseph L. France, former Maryland senator, defeated Jacob S. Corey, mayor of Massillon, Ohio, in the republican presidential preference race.

Returns from 1,925 of the state's 2,235 precincts gave Roosevelt 46,703 votes and Governor W. H. Murray, of Oklahoma, 27,816, against a previous record of 13,113 in 1924. Republicans in 1901 precincts cast a little more than 50,000 votes, giving France 31,066 votes and Corey 21,842.

County auditors tonight were tabulating results of contests for delegates to the national party conventions. On the democratic slate, Murray and Roosevelt had slates of pledged delegates for the 10 North Dakota votes.

For the republican ticket, a set pledged for President Hoover competed with a slate unopposed by delegates to the anti-Hoover and vote for a "progressive." The state has 11 republican convention votes.

Delegates pledged to President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt led the field on the republican and democratic tickets. About one-third of the state's delegate returns have been tabulated.

For the 12th annual delegate seats, 10 Hoover candidates and one unopposed anti-Hoover candidate topped the list of 22 candidates. On the democratic ballot, nine Roosevelt-pledged democrats, and one pledged to the republican ticket.

Judge "Jails" Auto Of Drunken Driver

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 17. —Police Ben Whiting, of city judge court, today put into effect a policy of "jailing" the automobile in cases of conviction of driving while intoxicated.

HURLEY FORESEES G.O.P. WET STAND

Eventual State's Rights Policy Predicted as So- lution of Issue.

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—The prohibition question marched forward abruptly today into political speculation with three of the republican party's high command talking of possible liberalization while supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt boomed a sweeping of North Dakota's preference vote.

Secretary Hurley, in Chicago, expressed a belief the republican party would stand on the liquor problem.

"A great many people are going to look for the wet candidates on the ballots next November," the secretary of war said in an interview. "Eventually I think the prohibition question will be settled on the basis of state's rights."

Hurley in an interview described the prohibition amendment and the federal income tax as "only two measures in the constitution which interfere with state's rights."

"The democratic party put both of them there," he said, "during the Wilson administration, yet John Raskob calls those republicans 'Judases' who come out against prohibition. It was a democratic measure, sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, an outstanding democratic statesman. Yet the democratic party claims a tradition of defending state's rights."

That the party's convention will face

Shouse, Carmody and Howell Speak at Hibernian Banquet

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 17. (AP)—Major Clark Howell Jr., business manager of The Atlanta Constitution, was elected chairman of the democratic national executive committee, and Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, were principal speakers tonight at the annual banquet of the Hibernian Society of Savannah.

The banquet brought to a climax a colorful celebration of St. Patrick's day, a colossal event in Savannah. During the day there was an enthusiastic parade through downtown streets of Savannah Irishmen.

At noon the 12th annual meeting of the Hibernian Society was held and Judge James P. Houlihan was elected president. Richard M. Charlton, vice president; Nicholas T. Stafford, secretary; John J. Powers, treasurer, and Jerome F. Sullivan, assistant secretary.

Mr. Shouse said the manufacturers' sales tax, now being considered by congress, was "repellent" to the democratic mind but declared that "needs must when the devil of necessity drives."

He said that congress was confront-

BUSINESS ON UPGRADE, ARKWRIGHT DECLARES

Crisis Is Passed, Head of Georgia Power Company Asserts in Address.

The anti-hoarding plan of the government to bring forth idle money for the purchase of government securities is the only concrete plan which has been offered in which all can take an active part and through which confidence will be restored and normal times returned, it was the opinion of Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, who spoke before the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon Thursday.

He declared the crisis of the so-called depression has passed and that all signs point to a returning of confidence and the banishment of fear. This fear, he asserted, caused more damage since September last than the entire period since 1929. The harm was not justified, he opined, but was brought on by fear. But the deflation has been reached, he declared and "prosperity is not just around the corner—it is just up the grade in front of us. We're at the turn of the grade and we've got to pull now for it," he said.

To pull this grade, confidence must be restored, money put into circulation, credit established and capital restored. "This cannot be done by waving a wand," he stated, "you have done nothing about it but talk. Now is the opportunity in which we can all have a part."

He stated that some of the indications that the crisis is over include the fact that banks are stable and that the closing of the institutions "has reached the vanishing point," and further "banks can meet all of their demands and government bonds have been the largest over-subscribed at present than at any time since last June." He does not blame the "machine age" or "over-production" for the slump, but hoarding and the accompanying withdrawal of money from banks and circulation.

VICTORIOUS MAYOR OFF FOR FLORIDA FOR NEEDED REST

Mayor James L. Key, victorious in his battle to prevent recall, Thursday was en route to Florida—destination unannounced.

He performed the duties of the office for a short time yesterday morning prior to his departure. Provisional Mayor Pro Tem. Alvin L. Richards then took over the reins, but plans this morning to surrender them to Mayor Pro Tem. J. Charlie Murphy.

"Nobody knows just where I am going or when I will be back," Key said as he left. "I just need a few days' rest and I'm going to get it."

Among the party were V. P. Warren, R. R. and W. R. Otis, Tom Wilson, J. P. Womack and A. L. Belle Isle.

BIG ANNUAL BANQUET IS HELD BY REALTORS

The annual banquet of the Atlanta Real Estate Board, the "Prosperity Follies of 1932," was staged on Thursday evening at the Druid Hills Club. During the evening the members omitted all business discussion and worries, and gave themselves up to a spirit of merrymaking. This year's banquet was marked by lavish entertainment features.

SAUNDERS CASE PROBE BY U. S. IS REPORTED

Alleged false statements in the affidavit accompanying a petition filed by ex-Councilman W. E. (Butch) Saunders seeking a writ of habeas corpus to effect his release from the Fulton county chain gang, where he is serving time for bribery, are being investigated by the federal department of justice, it was learned Thursday. Indicted in Fulton superior court for false swearing, Saunders was given a directed verdict of not guilty when the court ruled that it did not have jurisdiction. A department of justice agent has visited Saunders on the chain gang at the request of District Attorney Clint W. Hager, it was admitted by Hager, but the district attorney would not divulge the nature of the visit.

MOREHOUSE SINGERS WILL GIVE CONCERT

The annual concert of the Morehouse College Glee Club will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the chapel of Morehouse College, under auspices of the Morehouse Auxiliary, the proceeds from the sale of tickets to be devoted to the general endowment fund, it was announced Thursday.

Organized 21 years ago, the glee club has been under the direction and

Are you handi-capped at the office?

To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition.

This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 17.—(P)—A. A. Wilkinson, 70-year-old cook of the Caddo parish poorhouse at Flourey, 11 miles from here, ran amuck with a pistol late today, slaying one aged inmate and wounding two others. He was captured shortly afterwards by a guard at the nearby prison farm.

Sam Warren, 75, was slain. R. J. Foley, 74, and Frank Andrews, 70, were seriously wounded.

MISSISSIPPI WOMAN DROPS 'EVOLUTION' BILL
JACKSON, Miss., March 17.—(UP)—Threatening shadows of a fight over "evolution" in the Mississippi house of representatives was removed today when Mrs. Mildred Topp withdrew her bill which would have repealed a six-year-old anti-evolution law.
The statute as it stands prohibits the teaching of the theory of evolution in state-supported schools. Mrs. Topp's bill was withdrawn with the unanimous consent of the legislative body.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES
by Sally Saver

When we think of Holland, many of us are reminded of tulips and hyacinths—of wooden shoes, canals and windmills. We are reminded, too, of a thrifty people, immaculately clean kitchens and of the fine cows which have made Holland world-famous for its cheese. The Dutch favor the cheese as one of their chief foods, and although we do not hear as much about it, sausage with them is equally as popular. They use sausage in soups and stews or simply serve it with brown bread, jam and tea. A day's menu in Holland would be something like this:

BREAKFAST.		DINNER.
Oatmeal	Butter	Soup	Fish or Meat Croquettes
Bread	Cheese	Brown Beans Cooked with Salt Pork	Cabbage
Coffee at 11 a. m.	Tea	Sweets	Potatoes
			Edam Cheese
			Coffee

For Dutch pea soup, soak overnight one pound of split peas, in four quarts of water. Cook slowly for two hours—add sausage, a stalk of two of celery and parsley and cook one hour longer. Remove celery before serving. It isn't often that sausages appear in statistics—but a recent report from the Sausage Casing Dealers Association states that last year they manufactured enough sausages to reach twice around the world—not to mention their usual output of boloney.

We housekeepers are always glad to include in our menus sausage and the various combinations and arrangements to which they make such a delicious and appetizing addition. We seldom find sausages either by themselves or utilized as left-overs to supply a piquant and spicy flavor in made dishes. Sausages form a perfectly healthful addition to the bill of fare and supply us with the energy that is necessary for our bodies.

Have you ever eaten baked apples stuffed with sausages? Scoop out the center of six good-sized, tart apples, leaving a thick shell, and cut all the pulp possible from the core. Chop this and mix with one cupful of minced cooked sausage meat. Refill the apples with this mixture, heaping the filling and bake in a medium hot oven until the apples are tender. Serve with baked or fried potatoes for lunch or supper, or as a garnish to roast chicken or pork.

Sausage Rolls.
Sausage rolls are both attractive and appetizing as a luncheon dish. Make a baking powder dough and roll it to one-fourth inch thickness. Cut into oblongs three inches long and two inches wide. In the meantime cook 12 sausage in a frying pan until tender, but not crisp. Roll one sausage in each oblong of dough—press the sides together, leaving the ends open. Lay in a greased pan with the whole side up. Brush the surface of each roll with milk and bake in a 405-degree oven for 15 minutes. When baked lay symmetrically on a hot platter and surround with peas in white sauce, creamed sliced eggs or friend apples and serve at once.

Smeared Sausages.
Smeared sausages may be prepared either as a main dish or in individual servings. Fry one cup of sausage meat until tender and to it add one cup of diced celery cooked until tender. Mix and moisten with two tablespoons of either tomato or white sauce. Prepare one quart of highly seasoned mashed potatoes and add to it one-half of a beaten egg. Form into thick roll with the sausage mixture in the center, lay in greased baking pan and bake in color. Remove to a hot serving dish, surround with white or tomato sauce, garnish and serve.
For individual servings, line an ice cream scoop with mashed potato, fill the center with sausage mixture and spread a layer of mashed potatoes on top. Invert on a greased baking pan and cook as above.

For surprise rice croquettes, cook one cup of rice in one quart of boiling water, salted—until soft. Drain and pour cold water through the rice to separate the kernels. Season with 1-1/4 teaspoons of salt and 1-8 teaspoon of pepper and paprika and a bit of cayenne. Spread on a plate and when partially cooled add 1-2 of a beaten egg, then chill entirely and form into croquettes, rolling in the center of each one half of a small cooked sausage. Roll each croquette in fine crumbs, then in the remainder of the beaten egg to which two tablespoons of water have been added, then in the crumbs again and fry in deep fat at 350 degrees until golden brown. Set the molds in a pan of boiling water and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Invert and serve with hot tomato sauce.

Sausage Timbales.
Sausage timbales suggest a most tempting way of serving sausages. Cook 1-2 cups of spaghetti in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and pour cold water through it. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and 1-4 teaspoon of pepper. Line buttered timbale molds or custard cups with this mixture and fill with small pieces of cooked sausage—two cups of sausage meat are sufficient for six molds. Cover the top of each mold with spaghetti and pour in as much of the following mixture as the molds will take up. Mix 1-2 teaspoons of cornstarch with 1-3 cup of milk, add 2 egg yolks beaten slightly, then add 1 cup of milk, 1 teaspoon of salt and a dash of cayenne. Fold this into the beaten whites of 2 eggs. Set the molds in a pan of boiling water and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Invert and serve with hot tomato sauce.

Chafing Dish Sausage Scramble.
This is a suggestion dish for the Sunday night supper. Fry in a chafing dish until done four sausages cut in small pieces. Pour off part of the fat and scramble with the sausages four slightly beaten eggs, mixed with 1-2 cup of milk. Season with half a teaspoon of salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper and serve on hot buttered toast. The milk may be omitted or scented if a dryer scramble is preferred.
A Tempting Sunday Night Supper.
For a Sunday night supper combination fry six thin good sized slices of sausage meat until crisp and brown. Ponch the same number of eggs. Lay a slice of sausage topped with a poached egg on each slice of toast. Meanwhile make a mock Hollandaise sauce and pour some of this around over each slice of toast. Serve it once.
For savory biscuit bake round baking powder biscuit in two thin layers, brushing them with melted butter before baking. Serve with hot tomato sauce to which minced cooked sausage has been added.

Sausage Scramble.
Four sausages, 4 eggs slightly beaten, half teaspoon salt, half cup milk, eighth teaspoon pepper, toast.
Cut sausages in small pieces and saute in frying pan until tender. Pour off part of fat and add eggs slightly beaten and mixed with milk, salt and pepper. Stir lightly with a fork until it is set and creamy in consistency. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Apple Cups.
Four cups peeled, thinly sliced apples, butter, cinnamon and nutmeg, half cup canned milk, half cup sugar, lemon juice, 2 eggs, half cup water. Line muffin tins with plain pastry. Fill with apples. Add 1 tablespoon sugar, half teaspoon butter, a few drops of lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste—to each individual pie. Beat eggs until light, add diluted milk and mix thoroughly. Add to each individual pie. Bake in hot oven.

Bleaches

A discolored drainboard—musty shelves—dirty linoleum—stained porcelain—scorched pots and pans—an offending garbage can—these were the things in her kitchen that discouraged her. Clorox made light work of all of them. For Clorox—bleach, stain-remover, deodorant and disinfectant—is truly "bottled elbow grease."

Clorox does many other dreaded jobs. In the laundry—it bleaches and removes ordinary stains from white cottons and linens without boiling. In the bathroom—it deodorizes toilet bowls, and removes stains from tile, porcelain and enamel. These and additional uses are fully described on label.

375-400 degrees F., until apples are tender. Makes eight cups.
Savory Sausages and Beans.
 Three sausages, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 cups baked beans, 1 cup fresh or canned corn, cooked.
 Mince sausages and saute with minced onion until sausages are crisp and brown. If sausages are very fat, pour off some of the fat. Then add baked beans and corn. Stir until well heated, then season as needed, depending upon the seasoning in the beans.

Nordica Peaches.
 Plain or sponge cake, peaches cut in halves, frozen custard or maple mousse.

Toast rounds of plain or sponge cake and cool. On each round put one tablespoon frozen custard or maple mousse. Top with half a fresh or canned peach and pour some of the syrup over all.

Jellied Soup.

Two tablespoons granulated gelatin, 3 1/2 cups hot, well seasoned soup stock, 2 egg whites, 1/2 cup cold, well-seasoned soup stock, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, rind of one lemon grated.
 Soak gelatin in cold soup stock five minutes. Heat the rest of the soup stock with the lemon juice and rind. Add the soaked gelatin, stir until dissolved. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Boil, stirring constantly, for five minutes. Cool and strain through double cheesecloth. Turn into bouillon cups, chill until set, and just before serving beat lightly with a fork. If canned broths, soups or bouillon cubes are used, the egg whites need not be added.

Thousand Island Dressing.
 One-half cup mayonnaise made with Tarragon vinegar, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 teaspoons minced chives, mince in order given and chill, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, 2 tablespoons finely chopped pimientos, 2 hard cooked eggs chopped, 1/2 cup heavy cream, drawn butter sauce.

Use 2 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons butter and 1 cup boiling water. No milk. Season with 1-4 teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Prepare like medium white sauce. One-fourth cup capers may be added if desired.

Sausages are delightful when broiled and served with broiled tomatoes, with toast and coffee, your breakfast is complete.

Waffle suppers are delightful either for the family or company. Hot waffles with jam, sausage and coffee are sufficient. This supper may be easily served without a maid. Cook the sausages, prepare the waffle batter and coffee. The waffles may be made at the table and the batter poured from a pitcher.

Sausage is always most acceptable served with grits or with "big hominy." This makes a good combination for breakfast or for supper. Sausage with baked sweet potatoes is delicious—especially when the gravy is served with it. There are new ways—old ways of serving sausages, but there is always a place for it in our menus.

Wieners never cease to be popular. What could be more delicious than wieners roasted on a stick, either out of doors or over an open fire at home? They may be roasted in the oven or simply broiled until thoroughly heated and done, and served your favorite way. The tiny Vienna sausages are most adaptable to cold suppers and picnic lunches. There is always a place for Vienna sausages on a platter of cold assorted meats. They have a place, too, in the children's lunch box. They make good sandwiches or they are excellent when eaten with saltines.

Then there are all kinds of sausages ready to be sliced and served on cold plates. Some are prepared after a Mexican fashion with pimientos, ancho peppers and rare spices, others are less highly seasoned. An assortment of these sausages "laced" on a platter around a mound of stuffed olives, garnished with parsley, forms the main dish of a cold supper or luncheon. DRY RAIDING MINISTER INDICTED FOR MURDER

PALATKA, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Despite that a committal court previously had ordered him held only for manslaughter, a grand jury here has indicted the Rev. E. H. McGaha, militant minister, on a charge of first-degree murder growing out of the slaying of John W. Malone during a raid on a liquor still last Christmas Day.

McGaha is alleged to have fired the shot which killed Malone while he and officers conducted the still raid. The pastor said at an inquest that his shotgun was fired, accidentally when he tripped over some underbrush as he and the officers closed in on the still at a given signal.

He has been in jail since his arrest, in lieu of $5,000 bond.

be broiled and served with apple sauce and toasted rolls for breakfast.

Let's have a Dutch party! We'll make it a "pantry" party, too. All that we have to do in way of preparation is to see that we have on hand plenty of cheese, sausage, pretzels, pickles, olives and beer. Use as many different kinds of sausage as you like—the more kinds the better, and don't forget goose liver. Use a variety of cheeses, too. With just a few turns your table will be spread for an after bridge or theater party. It's a lot of fun to do something Dutch and different.

POWERS CONVINCED THAT HE WILL HANG

W. Virginia Ready for Execution Which Is Set for 9 O'Clock Tonight.

MOONSVILLE, W. Va., March 17.—(AP)—Harry F. Powers went to bed tonight on his death-cell not convinced it is the last night's sleep he will ever have.

The pudgy man called "Bluebeard," because he slew the women he lured with love, is sure that nothing can save him from a murderer's death on the gallows at the stroke of 9 tomorrow night.

Powers doesn't seem much interested in his approaching doom. He told newspapermen who visited him in the death cell that he has written a song. He didn't disclose its nature or its title. It is to be copyrighted, he said, and the proceeds from its sale are to go to his wife—or widow—Mrs. Luella Strother Powers, of Clarksburg.

The law is ready to proceed with the execution. Dr. W. D. McClung, superintendent of the Huntington State hospital, has reported to the governor that Powers is "legally sane and amenable to the law." Warden A. C. Scroggins has the gallows ready.

Powers was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Fressier Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee. He was also indicted, but not tried, for killing Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill. The bodies of the five were found buried in a sewer ditch near Powers' garage in Quiet Dell, a Sylvan suburb of Clarksburg.

MAKE THE WORLD'S best HOT CROSS BUNS!

They're jiffy-quick! They're easy to make! with Calumet's Double-Action!

You can do it—yes, you can! Without fuss. Without bother. Just follow the recipe given—and be sure of this—use Calumet Baking Powder. For it's Calumet's Double-Action that makes these quick-and-easy hot cross buns so perfect in texture and taste.

Here is why Calumet can do it—it acts twice! As soon as you add liquid to your dry ingredients, Calumet's first action begins and starts the leavening. Then, in the oven, Calumet's second action begins. This carries on the leavening. Up! . . . up! . . . it keeps raising the dough and holds it high and light, until every roll is baked to tender, fluffy goodness. And it's this same double-action—this extra protection—that makes all cakes and all your quick breads so unusually delicate and delicious when they're Calumet-baked.

So thrifty too! The simple, tested recipe given here is a Calumet recipe—specially designed for the Calumet proportion—only one level teaspoon ly failures—because it always brings top-notch success! Try it—and see why it is the world's most popular baking powder, too! Calumet is a product of General Foods Corporation.

HOT CROSS BUNS (kneaded rolls)

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder 1 tablespoon shortening 3/4 cup milk (about)

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk gradually until soft dough is formed. Knead lightly for 2 to 3 minutes. Cut small pieces from dough, and roll in palm of hand into balls 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Place in greased pan; cut a cross on each with pointed knife. Brush tops with melted butter. Cover and let rise in warm place 20 minutes. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 10 minutes. Brush tops with mixture of equal parts sugar and milk, and finish baking. Makes 16 buns. All measurements are level.

100,000 CHINESE MARCH ON MUKDEN

Concerted Volunteer Move To Oust Japanese Reported in Manchuria.

SHANGHAI, Friday, March 18.—(P)—The Kuomintang (Chinese) News Agency reported today that 100,000 Chinese volunteers were marching on Mukden, Manchuria, from three directions.

The volunteers, the agency said, were destroying the flag of the new Manchurian government in all the villages along the way and were hoisting the Chinese national ensign.

The Japanese garrison at Mukden, the Kuomintang dispatch said, had received information of the advance and had mounted guns in the outskirts of the city.

The Earl of Lytton, head of the League of Nations commission investigating the Sino-Japanese conflict, received a telegram from a group of Chinese organizations at Mukden declaring that the 30,000,000 Chinese in Manchuria would rather share the destiny of China, whatever it may be, than live under the rule of Japan.

The message, which described the new Manchuria as "merely a puppet of the Japanese army," was signed by Chinese labor unions, the Educational Association at Mukden, the Bankers' Association and 28 other organizations.

SCHOOLS WILL GET FUNDS NEXT WEEK

Proceeds from a loan of $2,000,000 which Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. arranged with a group of Georgia banks Wednesday will be distributed on a pro rata basis to the public schools next Monday, the chief executive said Thursday.

Under the terms of an agreement with the bankers, the state was able to borrow the money at an interest rate of 5 1/4 per cent which, coupled with January, 1933, maturity, will result in saving $25,000 under the best proposition offered when bankers were first invited to bid for the loan.

Banks and financial companies scattered in several Georgia cities participated in the syndicate which made the loan. Among them, in addition to the list announced Thursday morning, were the Robinson-Humphrey Company and the Citizens & Southern Company, both of Atlanta.

Newspapers Defend Public Record Right

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 17. (P)—Greenville's two daily newspapers today retained an attorney to represent them in connection with a judicial order forbidding the publication of portions of a grand jury indictment.

The order was issued yesterday by Judge Marvin W. Mann in circuit court, upon the motion of counsel for State Senator J. R. Bryson, and Sheriff Cliff Bramlett.

Attorneys for Bryson and Bramlett argued that the specified portions, embracing nearly all of the lengthy indictment, constituted "propaganda" against their clients, and should not be available for publication.

In reply, John M. Daniel, attorney-general of the state, asserted the grand jury was empowered to make any statements it saw fit, and that such matter should be available for the press.

Judge Mann issued the order, but remarked it might be modified. Bramlett and Bryson were indicted several months ago for official misconduct. The cases were not crossed this week by Solicitor J. G. Leatherwood, who indicated he possibly would seek new indictments.

The award to Governor Russell was for his leadership of a successful campaign to reorganize the executive departments of Georgia during the 1931 general assembly. It was made by a committee composed of R. J. Reynolds Jr., chairman; Ivan Allen, Roy LeCraw, Joe W. Ray and Duncan G. Peck.

Wallace Jackson Composes a Yo Yo Song And Will Broadcast It Over the Radio

Well, it was bound to come. They've written a song about Yo-yo. It's entitled "My Yo-Yo" and—take it from those who have heard the piece—it's crazier than the game if possible.

Wallace Jackson, who conducts the Hotel Ansley orchestra, composed it. He will broadcast it over WGST. He ran over "My Yo-Yo" yesterday at rehearsal. The subject wasn't new even if the song was. Every one of Wallace's band boys, had a yo-yo in his pocket. Between numbers the yo-yos spin and whirl.

"It's like this," Wallace explained. "Being on a bandstand day and night, and playing one hot number after another, is bound to give the musician what is known as 'musicitis'. He gets so he can't think, talk or dream about anything but music."

"That's where the yo-yo comes in. If the boys try out new tricks on their yo-yos between rehearsals and playing time it takes their minds off the question whether the second sax takes the third break in 'Sleepy Time Down South' or whether it's a trumpet break."

Now that people are learning how to sing "My Yo-Yo," that makes the triumph of the little Filipino fun tops a complete success.

All Atlanta is talking yo-yo, it's playing yo-yo, and in a few days it'll be singing yo-yo.

Little did the Philippine Islands native who, over 300 years ago, developed a little disc and razor-edge as a weapon realize that some day this weapon, transformed into a toy, would sweep the largest country in the world, and take every hamlet, town and city like—to use the popular phrasing—Grant took Richmond.

GIRL'S WILES BLAMED FOR APACHE SLAYING

GLOBE, Ariz., March 17.—(P)—A motion to bar from evidence the alleged confession of MacGowen Seymour, 21-year-old Indian accused of the murder of Henrietta Schmerler, brilliant Columbia University student, was denied by Federal Judge A. M. Sames today.

The court ruled on the motion in the case of Seymour, J. P. Dougherty, that testimony regarding the alleged admissions of Seymour should come from Tom Dosola, Apache interpreter, rather than from J. A. Street, department of justice agent, who questioned Seymour.

Dougherty, in his opening statement, promised to prove his client was a man crushed by remorse, whose credulity and child-like mind had been exploited by a woman his mental and emotional superior—a frightened Indian who killed by accident in self-defense.

While he was taking the girl to a dance at Canyon Dey on his horse, Seymour was alleged to have told Street, they dismounted to walk across a muddy ravine.

"The white girl began to hit me with bag and tassel," the confession said in part.

"I took her. . . . Afterward she got mad. She threw rock and hit me in chest. Then she took knife out of the bag and started throw another rock. Just then I threw a rock at her and knocked her down. I don't know if I hit her in head. She fell on her face. I went and took knife away from her. I put my hand under her head and stabbed her in neck, possibly about head. She got up and walked short way down ravine, and then lay down. I went and stood on bank and cried—I felt very bad then. . . ."

Dougherty painted a picture of an Indian youth whose emotional grip had been loosened by intoxicating liquor given him by his victim.

Miss Schmerler, he asserted he would show, accompanied Seymour to the dance at her own insistence, plying the young red man with liquor to gain her point when he demurred.

The defense counsel intimated he would attempt to prove through the testimony of young Seymour himself many of his contentions to the jury.

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits New Granddaughter

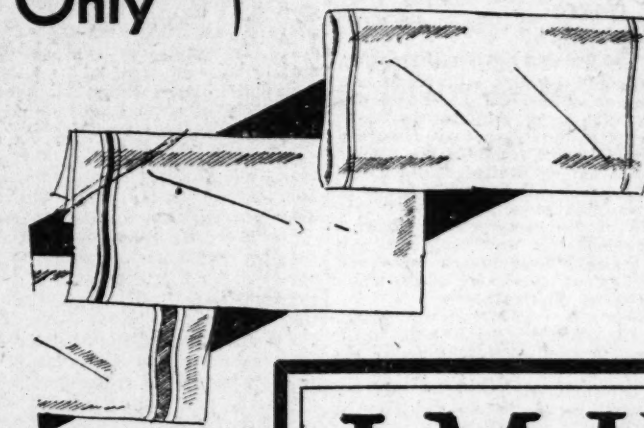

BOSTON, March 17.—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor of New York, devoted the early part of her 27th wedding anniversary today to a flying trip to Boston to see her brand-new granddaughter, Sara Delano Roosevelt, who is now just four days old.

And James Roosevelt took a few hours off from his activities in managing his father's presidential campaign in Massachusetts to introduce his daughter to his mother.

The meeting, Roosevelt said, was a great success.

"Mother was delighted," he said, "and exclaimed, 'I think she's going to be my favorite granddaughter.'"

This being Mrs. Roosevelt's busy day, she satisfied herself that baby, father and mother were all well and happy, then caught a train back to Albany to be present with Governor Roosevelt at their anniversary celebration.

WINNING THE WEST.

The national scope of the Roosevelt strength, and the democratic sweep of the west to be expected if he is named as the party's standard bearer, are clearly revealed in developments so far in the campaign for the presidential nominations.

The "stop Roosevelt" movement has been crushed in key states in each of the major political divisions of the country, winning significantly overwhelming victories in each state which has acted.

Roosevelt has already carried New Hampshire in New England, Minnesota and North Dakota in the west, Washington in the Pacific west and next week Georgia, as the first southern state to act, will give him her vote.

So far Roosevelt has not lost a state in which his name has been entered.

The North Dakota result is one of the most spectacular upturns in the political history of the country. Long recognized as a rock-ribbed republican state, the democrats have never heretofore come within threatening distance of carrying that state.

But with Roosevelt in the primary republican voters poured into the democratic camp in such volume as to put the democratic ticket far in the lead in total votes cast, and at the same time to register a new democratic high of approximately 75,000 votes as against the former record of 13,413.

There can be no misunderstanding of this tremendous about-face in the political alignment of the voters of North Dakota. It paints an unmistakable picture of the strength of Roosevelt in the states beyond the Mississippi river.

Time and again The Constitution has pointed out that all indications assured that Roosevelt, if nominated, would carry three-fourths of the states in that section. Now the astounding nature of the result in North Dakota makes it apparent that, as the nominee, he will receive an even larger proportion than that of the electoral votes in the section which has always been the backbone of republican strength.

The democrats have won only when they have broken the republican solidarity of the far west. They have never been able to do so except in 1912 when the Bull Moose movement split the republicans, and in 1916, when Wilson would have been defeated for re-election had he not divided the vote of Minnesota and California.

The naming of any other candidate than Roosevelt would almost certainly result in the organization of a third party, thus seriously jeopardizing democratic success.

Roosevelt is the only democratic candidate having anything like national strength; his momentous victory in North Dakota incontrovertibly indicates his strength in the western states, where the agricultural vote predominates, and his success in every state which has yet acted shows the basic weakness of his vociferous opposition.

It takes no more evidence than the decisive action within a week's time of such key states as New Hampshire, Minnesota and North Dakota to demonstrate that the democratic tide is running over-whelmingly toward Roosevelt—and that his nomination is practically assured.

Georgia next!

Of course increased circulation of money is greatly to be desired, but what will it profit business if the government lends it money with one hand and with the other takes it back in increased taxes?

A famous screen star says she doesn't bother about the birthdays ahead. Doubtless it's the number of them behind that has her worried.

W. CECIL NEILL.

The death of President W. Cecil Neill, of the senate, means the loss to the state of one of its most useful public citizens in the very prime of his service.

Few men in the history of the Georgia legislature have served as long and as ably as did he. With the exception of one term he was continuously a member of either the house or the senate from 1915 until the present, during which time he was honored with both the speakership of the house and the presidency of the senate.

He was the father of some of the most important enactments now on the statute books of the state, perhaps the most outstanding being the Neill primary law, the law making it compulsory for all state officials to turn their receipts into the state treasury and the proposed amendment to the constitution which will be voted on this fall, changing the date of inauguration of all state officials from June to January and providing for a 10-day session of the legislature in January for the purpose of organization and introduction of bills, the full sessions for the consideration of these measures to be held, as now, in the summer.

Probably no member of the Georgia general assembly has ever been more popular with his associates or had a larger circle of close personal and political friends than Mr. Neill. He wielded for many years a constructive influence which leaves his name indelibly imprinted on the legislative archives of the state.

COBB'S PUBLIC SPIRIT.

The action of the Cobb county grand jury in sanctioning the ceding of the Roswell district to Fulton county is the first step towards the elimination of an objectionable situation brought about by the merger of Fulton and Milton counties.

To complete the transfer it is necessary for it to be approved by the road commissioner of Cobb county, who has already indicated that he will do so, and by the Fulton grand jury and board of county commissioners.

The Roswell district is the eastern tip of Cobb county, jutting out along the former dividing line between Milton and Fulton and containing all the roads and bridges over the river which must be used in going between the old and new sections of Fulton.

The anomalous situation is therefore presented of forcing the people of Fulton, when traveling from one section of their county to another, to cross the territory of Cobb.

This will be done away with by including the Roswell strip in Fulton.

The action of the members of the Cobb grand jury was both generous and public spirited, as is the statement of Commissioner Stone that he will confirm the transfer.

The Fulton grand jury and our board of county commissioners will lose no time in taking similar action so that the annexation can be effected at the earliest possible date.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The Negro In the South.

"North of the line there used to prevail, and perhaps still persists, a grateful opinion that the negro was as certain to be maltreated in the south as he was sure to be accorded comfort of equal rights in the north," begins Archibald Kettle in an article appearing in January's issue of the South Atlantic Quarterly. Personally, I am compelled to admit. I always held this view too. But this was before I lived in the south and came to know something of the white and colored relationship.

Not all is perfect yet, of course. But the attitude of the white man toward the southern negro has more than once impressed me as being paternally benevolent. Slavery has never been condoned. But the slavery days, and especially in those days, there was a link between white and black in the south that the north never understood and doesn't understand till this day. The negroes were treated as children of the family in most homes. Only recently I was shown a family Bible in the home of Hugh Trotter, of Decatur, wherein his ancestors had marked down the births, marriages and deaths of their slaves right next to those of the family branches themselves. It was a touching bit of evidence of the relationship between the races in those far-off days.

A Monkey In A Cage.

There was a monkey in the cage at the zoo. A fashionable animal show on the avenue. The gilded cage touched the plate-glass window. A woman moved a small parcel up and down in front of his eyes and he followed her movement. Once or twice he started to stretch out his hand as if instinct. But then he remembered. There was something between, something invisible that would prevent him from touching it.

And so he looked the woman in the eyes, mildly accusing her. And other people passed—men, women and children, an endless stream. And some stopped and a nurse called him a darling monkey. And again there came into his eyes that strange accusing and bewildered look. And he passed his hand over his chin with an increasingly wise gesture of reflection.

And suddenly, perhaps by a flash of telepathy I knew what he was thinking about, for he leaned back and shut his eyes. He heard the soft rustle of the wind moving in the orange grass and there was a call in the branches of a giant cypress. And he remembered golden mornings with his mother and brothers over there, far away, in freedom.

What cruel beasts are we humans!

Dreyfus Again.

A man by the name of Quotidian, a pseudonym of course, has launched a series of articles in the French press reopening the Dreyfus case. By saying that Dreyfus was after all a traitor, but that he did not sell French military secrets to Germany; he sold them to Russia.

The city of it is that Dreyfus saw fit to answer the individual to deny the allegation and protest his loyalty to the French republic. The idea of reopening the case is purely political. The chauvinist anti-Semites of France doesn't care a rap whether Dreyfus betrayed or not, they are out to rouse dormant hatred and prejudice.

France is getting into a bad way economically. It's time to find a scapegoat.

BONERS

WHAT WE NEED IS A JACK

On the way home the Armada began to leak and they had to stop and fix it.

Socrates taught the people to love God and country and live a clean, Christian life.

Will You Starve an Infant Because It Can't Digest Meat?

By Robert Quillen.

The charge against critics is that they are not constructive. Their motive is identical with the motive that inspires other reformers. They observe that many things are rotten and are filled with an urge to remake the world. They get nowhere for the simple reason that they can't cross a river by cursing the boat. And if it is a row boat, you can't make it function by wishing for an engine.

The man who would remake the world has at hand certain tools. The tools are people. They are imperfect tools. Most of them are dull. If he is an impatient man, with fixed ideas concerning the virtues that tools should possess, he will jump up and down and howl for better equipment. The net result will be an increased strain on his artery walls. The tools will be no sharper and the work will not get forward.

The great reformers of the past got little honor in their day because they were too far ahead. It is a fine thing to envision perfection and establish an ideal for future generations, but the man who would get present results must begin where the people are and devote his energies to promoting the next step forward.

If the people are imperfect and incapable of seeing all that the reformer sees, then he must reveal to them the little that they can comprehend. No man is foolish enough to thrust geometry upon an infant. The infant has first the task of comprehending that two and two are four.

Low-brow literature may offend the critics, but if the lowbrows did not have it they would have no literature at all. Simple melodies may bore the critics, but they are food for millions whose souls would go hungry in a world containing great music only.

If at civilization can comprehend the ideas advanced by Polyanna, and can reach no further, is it good sportsmanship or good sense to scold it because it doesn't know what Einstein is talking about? Does one spank a child because it is guilty of being small?

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 17.—The famous picture most of the picture executives today are the new reel question. These reels are the most interesting phase of any motion picture program, in the opinion of 90 out of 100 people. It costs prodigious sums to gather the material and the margin of profit resulting is far below that on any other form of gelatine output.

Some time ago motion picture producers convened with the idea of gathering and distributing various angles of the shooting for the different reels. All of the world's major news events are photographed by this type of pressman. If you see pictures of a parade, or a wreck, or a world disaster, they appear pretty much the same in one reel as in another. And executives at that time estimated that identical results could be obtained by grouping this work at a tremendous reduction of cost.

But the competition of Hollywood was so keen that the idea was dropped. Once again comes the idea of an association for news reels and this time it is being "considered" seriously. Many executives are now motion picture production is less today than in the long ago.

Money in Circulation Shows Big Decrease

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Continued action by President Hoover's anti-inflation campaign has resulted in a big decrease in the money in circulation. The Federal Reserve board, showing a decrease of $22,000,000 in money in circulation. The decrease, which made the total circulation in the country amount to $5,322,000,000, was accepted by officials as being at least in part due to hoarders returning their money to the banks. The continued decrease, however, left the total $800,000,000 greater than it was a year ago.

The drop in circulation during the week brought the total decrease since the beginning of the year to $1,000,000,000. The week ending February 10 saw a decrease of $5,000,000 in circulation. The next two weeks saw a drop of $17,000,000 each, $8,000,000 for the week ending March 2 and $9,000,000 the following week.

At the same time another favorable factor during the past week was seen today in an increase of $12,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of the country bringing the total to $4,374,000,000.

BANKER IN HOPEWELL SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 17.—(AP)—Theodore S. Hall, 60-year-old cashier of the Hopewell National bank, shot himself in the cellar of his home today and died soon afterward. Officials of the bank said the institution's affairs were in good order and that the suicide had nothing to do with financial matters.

Mrs. Hall said her husband had been suffering from a nervous disorder for months, but that he had not shown any signs of depression because of worry about the Lindbergh kidnapping here.

Health Talks

In New York city the board of education adopted a new policy of dealing with left-handedness, beginning with the opening of school in 1928. Up to that time the arbitrary methods of old-fashioned education had prevailed. Any left-handed youngster who didn't stop his nonsense and behave just like the right-handed majority was regarded as a nuisance. The new policy is to give the left-handed child the same opportunities as the right-handed child. The board of education has decided that the left-handed child should be given the same opportunities as the right-handed child. BERLIN LAUNCHES SERIES OF RAIDS AGAINST NAZIS political maneuver to strengthen Von Hindenburg support.

Today's raids were believed to be the largest concerted action ever taken by republican Germany against any party. From Koenigsberg to Cologne and from Kiel to Breslau, every town had a Nazi center was visited by law officers acting upon instructions from Karl Severing, minister of the interior for the state of Prussia. The Nazi center was denied it had any hand in the raids.

Police declined to divulge what they had found, but Prussian government officials made public as soon as possible the concrete results of the wholesale raids, which were declared in some republican circles to be the forerunner of measures to outlaw the Hitler party.

The Prussian interior ministry issued a communique saying that the Hitlerites had been prepared for a march on Berlin at the time of the election last Sunday.

"Civil War" Seen.

"These preparations were made," the official because of the possibility of putting down communist revolts, but in reality they were preparations for civil war.

The "mother" message, officials declared, was found attached to a map showing how it was to be relayed to the various mobilization centers. The Hitlerite officials, declared, apparently had planned to march on the larger cities and assist police in maintaining order. If Hitler had been elected Sunday, Minister Severing declared they had been prepared to seize power in the event of interference.

Reids were made at Cologne, Berlin, Hamburg, Koenigsberg, Aachen, Dusseldorf, Frankfurt-on-Main, and at many small places.

At the "brown houses," Nazi headquarters at Munich it was made clear that the national socialists would counter the action of the Prussian authorities.

Nazi headquarters in Berlin made a vigorous protest to Wilhelm Groener, federal minister of the interior, and to Albert Griesinski, Berlin chief of police.

CRESTON, Iowa, March 17.—(AP)—The police decided today that a baby under surveillance here is not Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., and announced that a woman who brought the child here was at liberty to go wherever she pleased. The woman gave her name as Florence Bayne, 40, of Jerome, Arizona.

FINDING BABY BRINGS EXCITEMENT IN MIAMI

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Police here had a flurry of excitement today because a curly-haired baby boy toddled away from home and was found in a car in Coral Gables, beside a road in Coral Gables.

Hurry calls were made to newspapers for additional details of identification of the missing Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., of Hopewell, N. J., but the excitement faded when the baby here was identified as the son of A. W. Kneibler, of Coral Gables.

ANOTHER ADVERTISEMENT APPEARS IN 'JAFSIE' SERIES

NEW YORK, March 17.—(AP)—Another advertisement of the "Jafsie"

series, which some newspapers have speculated might have some connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping, appeared in a morning paper today.

"I accept," the advertisement, included in the classification of "public notices," read. "Money is ready. You know they won't let me deliver without getting the package. Let's make it some sort of C. O. D. transaction. Come. You know you can trust Jafsie."

THREE MEN ARRESTED

ABOLISHED IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, March 17.—(AP)—Three men were arrested here today and held for questioning in connection with the kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., though police said they were convinced the three knew nothing of the abduction.

They were ordered arrested after a woman reported she heard one of them remark in a restaurant: "Do you think the kid will smother in the cart?" They were held for further questioning.

The woman informant said the three drove away from the restaurant in a car bearing a New Jersey license. Names of the men were not revealed.

"To keep on borrowing and increasing interest charges may bring the country to the verge of bankruptcy," said the speaker. "We are directors of the greatest corporation on earth and at the present time this great corporation is bankrupt. We must restore its solvency by wiping out this deficit."

Counts on Interest.

The majority leader explained the tax bill was based on the assumption that the foreign debtor nations would resume payments amounting to about $270,000,000 a year. "We are now in a Hoover moratorium, but added: "I don't believe they'll pay a dollar of it."

Turning to the subject of government salary cuts, Rainey said: "We've got to cut our salaries. That's coming and we've got to cut other salaries than our own. But you can't save this government by cutting salaries."

The savings from salary cuts would be negligible, he said, but "they are needed for the psychological effect during this time of distress."

Rainey flayed those whom he termed "invisible lobbyists." He mentioned in this connection J. A. Arnold, of Washington, D. C., head of the American Taxpayers' League, adding that the league was to send letters to constituents of congressmen urging them to protest certain taxes or tariffs. Arnold was scored by the senate lobby committee in an investigation in 1930.

Rainey charged that the Illinois Manufacturing Association was lobbying against the sales tax, but said Edward N. Hurley, of Chicago, was in favor of it.

Representative Sinclair, republican, North Dakota, was making a number of members speaking against the sales levy.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES MISSISSIPPI SALES TAX

JACKSON, Miss., March 17.—(AP)—The senate finance committee considering the 3 per cent retail sales tax bill previously passed by the house tonight agreed to report the bill favorably in the upper chamber with an amendment reducing the proposed tax rate to 1 per cent.

The vote in the committee, Chairman John Kyle, of Sardinia, said, was 13 to 5 for the 1 per cent bill.

The committee acted after lengthy conferences with a special committee named by an anti-sales tax mass meeting here yesterday and headed by R. E. Kennington, Jackson merchant.

Several weeks ago the senate rejected its general revenue bill which contained provision for a 1 per cent sales tax.

Subsequently the 3 per cent bill advocated by the administration was approved in the house.

ROOSEVELT GROUP WILL MEET TODAY

Club Presidents To Lay Final Primary Plans at Luncheon Here.

Presidents of more than 100 Roosevelt-for-President clubs and a number of prominent supporters of the presidential candidacy of the New York governor will assemble at a luncheon meeting at 1 o'clock today at the Piedmont hotel to make final plans for getting out a vote next Wednesday that will give Roosevelt a heavy majority in every one of 135 counties.

Declaring Tuesday that Georgia would give Governor Roosevelt the biggest support of any state in which he has so far contested for delegates, W. E. Page, Roosevelt's personal representative in the state, sounded a warning against "Hearst tactics" which invite Georgians to vote for Judge Howard "and if he fails to get the nomination then to bolt the democratic party and vote for the republican nominee."

In his statement, Page played such political practice and asserted that "every Georgia democrat knows . . . when a man or woman participates in the Georgia democratic primary, she automatically assumes an obligation to support the democratic nominee."

Page said: "Many Georgia newspapers have warned the public that the candidacy in Georgia of Judge G. H. Howard in opposition to Governor Roosevelt is one phase of the 'stop-Roosevelt' movement which has been intensively pushed throughout the country by interests hostile to the New York governor. These newspapers and others have repeatedly called attention to the fact that the candidacy of Judge Howard, although purporting to be a proxy for Speaker John N. Garner, and repudiated by Garner's managers, is sponsored and financed by William Randolph Hearst. This is a notorious fact for his frequent bolts of the democratic party and his frequent assaults upon it. Hearst found the party in 1928 and supported Hoover for president, and if he is not permitted to name the democratic nominee at the Chicago convention he will no doubt be found again fighting the party's nominee."

"A very clear indication as to how Hearst and his associates in the situation was given Wednesday evening in the radio broadcast in Atlanta by the announcer for Hearst Atlanta newspaper. This announcer, in substance, made this rather amazing statement in his Hearst news broadcast: 'An inspection of the ballot prepared for use in the democratic presidential preference primary in Georgia reveals that the usual pledge to support the party's nominee has been omitted. This will be gratifying to Georgians, who have wanted all along to cast their vote for Garner but who have been afraid that by doing so they would be bound to vote for the party's nominee next November if Mr. Garner fails to receive the nomination. Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.
That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.
Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will leave you when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good drug gists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.
Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacob's Drug Stores invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case.—(adv.)

Suffragists' Whistles Perturb French Solons

PARIS, March 17.—(AP)—Things were going along all right in the senate this afternoon when a piercing blast on a tin whistle made some of the elder statesmen jump in their chairs. It was the suffragists back again.

"We pay the taxes, why can't we vote?" shouted four of them from a gallery, punctuating their chorus with shrieks from their whistles. A couple of ushers took them to the nearest police station.

omission of the pledge from the ballot makes it possible now for Georgians to cast their votes for Garner in the preferential primary without pledging themselves to support the party's nominee next November in the event he happens to be unacceptable to them.

"This statement is susceptible of but one interpretation—Mr. Hearst is advising Georgians to go into the democratic primary and vote for his candidate and if he fails to get the nomination then to bolt the democratic party and vote for the republican nominee."

"Every Georgia democrat knows and Mr. Hearst and his representatives know or ought to know that when a man or woman participates in the Georgia democratic primary he or she automatically assumes the obligation to support the democratic nominee. The primary rules make this clear. Any other course of conduct would indicate a lack of good faith and would be highly improper."

Cohen Wins Roosevelt.
Major John S. Cohen, Georgia democratic national committeeman and president and editor of the Atlanta Journal, Thursday wired Governor Roosevelt, of New York, his congratulations on the Roosevelt victories in North Dakota and New Hampshire.

"Both east and west have spoken and their verdict is unmistakable," his telegram said. "Next Wednesday the south will speak and its verdict will, we hope, be even more emphatic."

"The 'stop Roosevelt' forces are frantic but, in the face of the overwhelming public sentiment, my congratulations to you and to the voters who refuse to be confused and diverted."

R. J. REYNOLDS IS NAMED ON NATIONAL COMMITTEE
WASHINGTON, March 17.—R. J. Reynolds Jr., of Atlanta, secretary of the Young Men's Democratic League of Georgia, has been appointed a member of a committee of nine which will draft a constitution and by-laws for the national organization of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

Reynolds was appointed by T. E. Taylor, national president, and will serve with Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, chairman; Miss Louise Falligant, Washington, D. C., secretary; E. R. Morrow, of New York; Justice Robert D. Leeper, of the 10th supreme court; Thomas Elliott, Harvard Law school, Thomas P. Myers, Buffalo; Asa Lee Myers, Oklahoma; and Miss Blanche E. Lane, Michigan. Miss Falligant is vice chairman of the southern division, and was formerly secretary to Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida.

The purpose of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, which now represents 27 states of the Union, is "to instill in the young people of the United States an interest in governmental affairs and to further the ideals and principles of the democratic party."

MURRAY QUALIFIES IN FLORIDA PRIMARY
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, today qualified with Secretary of State R. A. Gray for participation in the Florida democratic preferential primary of June 7.

ROOSEVELT ADDS TO PRIMARY LEAD

Governor William Murray, of Oklahoma, led the state of 21 candidates for the 10 seats in the national convention.

William Stern, of Fargo, and Mrs. Selma Stern, of Minn., were elected republican national committeeman and committeewoman. They were endorsed by a faction calling itself the "real" republicans to distinguish from a unit controlled by the Non-partisan League, whose incumbents, F. J. Graham, of Ellendale, and Mrs. J. D. Craig, of Esmond, were defeated.

H. H. Perry, of Ellendale, was elected democratic national committeeman over J. Nelson Kelly, of Grand Forks, incumbent. Miss Nellie Dougherty, of Minn., was re-elected national committeewoman unopposed.

Five state measures were defeated, including a proposal to move state headquarters from Bismarck to Jamestown, and another to increase the gasoline tax from 3 to 4 cents per gallon.

TENNESSEE DELEGATION PROMISED BY BACKERS
NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 17.—(AP)—A telegram today to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, here said that "you will have the full delegation from Tennessee with no opposition" for the democratic nomination for president.

"At a conference of leading democrats from all parts of Tennessee today, we are requested to send you greetings and assurances that the south joins the east and the west in demanding your nomination and election to the presidency," the message said.

"Our reports from practically every county in Tennessee show that you will have the full delegation from Tennessee with no opposition, both United States senators, four congressional ex-governors and practically every democratic leader in the state, as well as the rank and file, are giving you their cordial support."

FAIRLEY IS "CONVINCED" OF ROOSEVELT VICTORY
NEW YORK, March 17.—(AP)—On his return today from political conferences in Michigan, James A. Fairley, democratic state chairman, said he was more convinced than ever that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will win the Maine convention.

He said he had been assured by William Constock, Michigan democratic state chairman, that state will be for the New York governor.

Elated over Roosevelt's victory in North Dakota, Fairley said he was looking forward to the next tests, March 29, in Maine and Iowa, when state conventions choose delegates.

He said some sentiment for former Governor Alfred E. Smith might develop in the Maine convention, but he was confident of the outcome.

Scott Allen Is Presented With Birthday Cake At Banquet and Meeting of Rogers Forces

Scott W. Allen, chairman of the board of directors of Rogers, Inc., was presented with a large birthday cake at a meeting of his associates on the Ansley hotel roof on Wednesday night. The presentation was made by Arthur S. Bird, president of the company. In addition to the Rogers force, retail grocers attended the meeting and heard an address by F. J. Nichols, director of the National Cash Register Company. Left to right are C. H. Moore, vice president and sales manager; Calvin Allen, Scott Allen, Arthur S. Bird and R. J. Hudson.

More than 400 Rogers employees, other retail grocers, and food manufacturers of Atlanta paid a birthday tribute to Scott W. Allen, chairman of the board of the Rogers organization, at a banquet at the Hotel Ansley roof garden Wednesday night.

The banquet celebrated Mr. Allen's 52d birthday and also marked the 31st anniversary of his appointment by the late L. W. Rogers, founder of the organization, as a store manager. A large cake, made entirely of Georgia products, was presented to Mr. Allen, Mrs. Allen and their son, Calvin, shared the honors.

Neal Ponder, advertising manager, acted as master of ceremonies and Arthur S. Bird as toastmaster for the dinner. C. H. Moore, vice president, in charge of store operations, and R. J. Hudson, secretary-treasurer, were other speakers.

Plans for Rogers food and home show, to be held April 14-23, were disclosed. F. J. Nichols, manager of the merchants' service bureau of the National Cash Register Company, spoke on modern grocery merchandising.

Mayor Key said that "my heart goes out in sympathy to Councilman Homer Foster, his brother, and to members of his family. I feel a deep sense of personal loss and the city has lost one of its bravest and best officers."

Councilman Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee of council, called at the Foster home Thursday afternoon to condole the family and express his sympathy.

Foster was 38 years of age. He was a native of Jackson, Ga., and is survived by his wife and two children, in addition to two brothers, Councilman Foster, and Ed Foster, chief of police of Flat Rock, Mich.

The detective had distinguished himself in a number of difficult cases, working most of the time with Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, one of his closest friends. Foster joined the force after the Frank DuPre case. He was working in a barber shop on Pryor street when, during the DuPre manhunt, the hunted man came in and asked for a shave.

Foster's outstanding work of the last several years was in tracking down Alvin E. Merritt, who later died in the chair for attacks on women, in ferreting out the slayers of Ben Lichtenstein, and in solving the murder of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browning at Valdosta after police of several cities had failed. In these cases he was associated with Lieutenant Sturdivant.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy paid Foster a tribute from the superior court bench Thursday morning. Judge Pomeroy pointed out that the detective "saw a violation of the law and stepped in to halt it. He went to his time to consider the odds against him. He was a courageous officer, thorough, efficient and honest in all his dealings. He will be greatly missed."

Pallbearers for Foster will be his close friends from the department: Lieutenant Sturdivant, Lieutenant L. J. Carroll, L. D. Cody, G. N. Ellis, Sam A. Smith and E. W. Ginn. Within recent months Foster had been working with Smith on automobile larceny cases.

MRS. W. A. WRIGHT DIES SUDDENLY

Widow of Comptroller Was Noted for Work in Aiding Veterans.

Mrs. William Ambrose Wright, widely known Atlantian and a leader in memorial work, died early Thursday morning at her home, 217 Fifteenth street, of a heart attack. Mrs. Wright, whose husband was for 50 years comptroller general of Georgia, was 77 years old.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church, with the pastor, the Rev. Samuel T. Senter officiating. Interment will be in LaGrange.

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Clark Howell, Goodloe Yancey, William A. Speer, W. B. Harrison, John Ashley Jones, H. Frank West, McWhorter Milner, Judge Alexander W. Stephens, Adjutant General Charles H. Cox, Colonel Sam Wilkes, Patrick H. Calhoun, R. Low Reynolds, former Governor John M. Slaton and Major John S. Cohen will act as an honorary escort. They were appointed by Henderson Hallman, commander of the National Cash Register Company, Confederate Veterans, and Martine Harmon, commander of the John B. Gordon camp, U. C. V.

For the last 10 years, Mrs. Wright had had charge of all the Memorial Day exercises in the city. She was president during this time of the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial Association, of which she was a charter member and helped to organize.

She gained statewide recognition for her work with the Confederate Southern Memorial Associations, of which she was also president, and with the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Daughters of the American Revolution, in both of which she held membership for many years.

A descendant of Georgia pioneers and a member of one of her most prominent families, Mrs. Wright was the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Albert Ewing Cox, of LaGrange, where she was born. She first was married to James H. Sledge, who died several years later. To this union was born a son, the late James H. Sledge Jr., and a daughter, the late Mrs. A. B. Bryan.

In 1885 Mrs. Sledge married General E. Wright, who was a well known figure in state affairs until his death.

Reared during the stormy times following the War Between the States, Mrs. Wright knew the hardships the soldiers had undergone and had spent much of her life in an effort to commemorate their deeds and to alleviate the suffering of the veterans. In addition to her activities in this line, she was prominent in the work of the First Methodist church.

Members of her family said that she had appeared to be in good health until the fatal stroke Thursday morning. She had complained of a slight illness earlier in the day but it was not thought to have been serious.

Mrs. Wright is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Anne Cox Stiles, Mrs.

Herbert E. White, and Miss Fannie and Miss Georgia Cox, all of Atlanta; a brother, Sterling Alford Cox, of Atlanta; two stepchildren, A. B. Wright, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Charles H. Phinizy, of Augusta; two grandchildren, Miss Mary Cox Bryan and William Wright Bryan, of Atlanta; and many nephews and nieces, including General Charles H. Cox, adjutant general of the state of Georgia.

ADVERTISING AIDS BUSINESS RETURN

No Time To Cut Appropriations, Bradstreet Sales Executive Says.

Activity of new industries, money placed in circulation through the agency of the anti-hoarding campaign and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and an increase in advertising and sales efforts, are prime factors essential to a return to normal business conditions, in the opinion of E. B. Moran, of New York, executive sales manager of the Bradstreet Company. In Atlanta Thursday on his return from a nationwide survey of business conditions, Mr. Moran was guest of honor and principal speaker at a dinner of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men, held at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

"One of the greatest difficulties regarding a return to normalcy," Mr. Moran said, "is a passive resistance on the part of the majority. Too many people think business is bad and that there is nothing to do but to sit still and wait for prosperity to return."

"On the other hand, there are many who, by effective and intelligent advertising programs and increased selling efforts, have held up their volume and have earned last year dividends that compare favorably with the best efforts of the past."

"This is no time to cut advertising programs or appropriations or to decrease sales efforts. If anything, they should be increased."

Operation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Mr. Moran said, is serving to put new interest and life in business generally, and will prove, in the final analysis, to be one of the greatest emergency steps undertaken during the emergency.

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation," he asserted, "is the very hypodermic business needed to start on a definite program of recovery. The anti-hoarding campaign, too, will greatly assist business and credit activity, which will have their favorable reflection in employment conditions. What we need in business is activity of new industry. In 1930 and 1931 the radio and automotive industries assisted us to pull through, and now, if the states could follow up the reconstruction finance program with similar steps toward aiding the building of homes, it probably would be the very thing needed to bring us to a level of normalcy."

BYRNS REFUSES ACTION ON HOOVER FUND PLEA

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(AP)—Chairman Byrns, of the house appropriations committee, said today no action will be taken on President Hoover's request for an immediate $500,000 appropriation for rivers and harbors work for at least another month.

Wild Animal Market Hits Bottom in Detroit

DETROIT, March 17.—(AP)—Potatoes are cheaper, tomatoes are cheaper, and so are gnus, lions, elands, Siberian camels and other jungle stock at the Detroit zoo.

Attractive bargains in four-footed merchandise went on the counter at the zoo today. Five loans at $150 each, two black bears at $25 each, a guinea pig at $200 and a nice, hungry pair of African elands for $500 per eland—with no takers.

The bottom has dropped out of the wild animal market, according to John T. Millen, zoo director. For instance, the sales resistance of prospective customers has knocked from $100 to $150 off the price of a jungle-bred lion.

The zoo's inhabitants now on the bargain counter, said Mr. Millen, are all surplus stock, born on the premises.

BARRETT ANSWERS LOBBYING CHARGE

Georgia Farm Leader Denies Secretary Wilbur's Accusations.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Answering a charge of "lobbying" laid at him yesterday by the Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, former head of the National Farmers' Union, today informed the department head that he had "never received a penny for helping to promote a bill or defeat a bill before congress or any other legislative body."

The charge against the Georgia farm leader was made in connection with a claim now before the interior department for $222,000 by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of Atlanta, growing out of unprofitable mineral development undertaken since the government during the war.

Secretary Wilbur had charged that Barrett threatened to get the interior department and block its appropriation bill after being unsuccessful some days ago in obtaining settlement of the case.

Worked 14 Years.

In a lengthy statement which he had inserted in the Congressional Record today by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, Barrett reminded Secretary Wilbur that he had been working for nearly 14 years toward having the department settle the Atlanta and similar cases based on claims of money owed by the government for mining of pyrites, manganese and two other minerals.

"Secretary Wilbur," he said, "says I injected myself in this matter last week. I hope this is not a sample of what he knows about the interior department."

The Georgia farm leader declared that as president of the National Farmers' Union over a period of some 20 years he had been appealed to by farmers to help them adjust claims against the government for mining activities during the war. He said he was interested in the Atlanta firm's claim because it was to establish a precedent in settling the others pending. The interior department, he declared, had refused to settle the case although the United States supreme court in a recent decision had justified it, supporting other decisions that have come down since the claims were first filed.

"Unfortunately," Barrett said, "that the secretary of the interior department's actions in handling the war mineral relief claims which have been inherited by him from previous administrations and which regrettably have met with much of the same lack of prompt and reasonable consideration marking the whole procedure for the past 14 years. There has been no question raised as to the integrity of Secretary Wilbur, who is esteemed as a most excellent gentleman but there is ground for belief that he has neither adequate nor complete knowledge of these claims which belief is justified by the inaccuracies both as to the figures quoted and the relationships cited in his letter regarding these claims."

"Nearly 14 years ago farmers of many states appealed to me as president of the National Farmers' Union to help them get the money the government owed them for the mining of pyrites, manganese and two other minerals to prosecute the war. These same farmers had been helping to pay my salary and expenses as president of the National Farmers' Union for many, many years. Why shouldn't I be interested in this matter? I have worked on it for nearly 14 years and will work for 14 years longer if necessary."

Received Nothing.

"As for being lobbyist, I never received a penny in my entire lifetime for helping to promote a bill or defeat a bill before congress or any other legislative body. Secretary Wilbur says I injected myself in this matter last week. I hope this is not a sample of what he knows about the interior department."

"About 14 years ago I went with George L. Pratt and some other gentlemen to the offices of Congressmen William Schley Howard, of Georgia, and Otis Wingo, of Arkansas, and assisted them in the passage of the war mineral relief act of March 2, 1919—and in 1929 I went with George L. Pratt and some other gentlemen to the offices of Carl Vinson and Otis Wingo and again assisted in the passage of the act of February 13, 1929, which conferred jurisdiction on the court to make awards which theretofore the secretary had denied."

"Both bills were duly passed by congress and under the decision of the courts thereunder a large number of claimants are entitled to recover—which they have not yet done. Not only these two bills, but three other bills have passed congress regarding this matter and the supreme court of the United States has also said that these debts should be paid."

"Nearly three months after the order from the highest court in the land to act, the department of the interior handling this matter had failed to settle. No wonder despair took the place of hope in the gentleman who had suffered so much at the hands of the government they had served so well."

"The principals in the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company claim, Lee Ashcraft, of Macon, and George L. Pratt, are my neighbors and my friends, whom the entire citizenship of the great state of Georgia admire. At the time of the nation's need when we were engaged in the World War, they responded with their time and means to serve with a loyalty and liberality scarcely equalled and never surpassed by any citizen anywhere. The fruits of their endeavor at the call of their country have been to wreck the individual fortune of George L. Pratt and his brother, everything gone and obligations yet to be met which will tax their strength to their last breath, while Ashcraft and Wilkinson can never measure either the time or the treasure they have put to their country's service."

"In all reasonableness, in utmost justice in keeping with every human impulse, fighting every step of the way for settlement, supported by the congress, sustained by the highest court of the land, 14 years of expense, worry, disappointment and near despair, justified in every claim, I do feel that the secretary of the interior laid an unfair charge against these gentlemen to accuse them of being in a lobby when they are only here now, as they have been for the past 14 years trying to get a department of the government to perform a reasonable and just duty."

"My own interest in these war claims, the Chesapeake claim being a test case to establish the validity of all such claims, dating back over a period of 14 years, is further intensified by the fact which should be official knowledge, that numerous farmers, many of them members of the very organization which honored me with leadership for near a quarter of a century, had responded at the country's call during the war and in so doing there arose these claims which have had such faltering and inexcusable delay in settlement."

De Valera Appeals for Irish Unity As Erin Honors Patron Saint

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 17.—(AP)—Erin celebrated the fifteenth centenary of St. Patrick today with dance and song and military parade, winding up the day by hearing a message from the new president of the Irish Free State, Eamon de Valera, which was rebroadcast to the United States.

(De Valera appealed to all Irishmen at home and abroad to close their ranks and march forward, according to a transcript of his address made in New York broadcasting offices.)

"Let our desire to work for our country be our common bond," De Valera said, renewing in effect his plea of yesterday for the union of North and South Ireland.

De Valera stressed that his aim was Ireland for Ireland, but tempered with friendly feeling for all nations.

"Our common desire," he said, "has always been to bring about the unity and independence of this nation."

The St. Patrick's Day celebration was marred by a disturbance at Ulster, near Ballinderry Bridge, in the county of Londonderry. A party of members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians were ambushed and two of their number were wounded.

The youth of Ireland danced to-night in celebration of the day, but the dance halls closed early and, as for some years past, no liquor was sold with which to drown the shamrock.

The day was marked in Dublin with a parade of Free State troops, who were reviewed by Frank Aiken, new minister of defense. It was recalled

Aiken was one of the foremost guerrilla leaders in the days of "the trouble."

The Irish republican army of De Valera held no parade.

Another center of ceremonies was at Saul, in County Down, where a giant statue of St. Patrick will soon be erected on the mountain of Sleva Willin, 400 feet above the shore where the saint landed in 432 A. D. as a missionary.

The sod was broken today by the Most Rev. Dr. M. G. Egan, bishop of Down and Connor, after a solemn high mass in Saul church and a procession to the site of the monument.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Electing to take his case before a jury, John A. Devoney, former Chicago bank president, was freed in federal court here yesterday on a charge of using the mails to defraud, in connection with a real estate development at Daytona Beach several years ago.

Cool, No More Rain, Says Von Herrmann

The light rains have ceased for the time being at least, stated C. F. von Herrmann in making his forecast for today, and today's temperatures will be moderately cooler though there is no danger of the freezing weather of the first of the week returning, he declared.

Thursday's temperature ranged between 57 and 62 degrees and today's minimum should be 48 degrees with a higher maximum than that of Thursday with a 65-degree mark, stated von Herrmann. The rain which began Thursday morning ended during the afternoon after .36 of an inch of rainfall had been recorded by the local weather bureau.

New Manager Believes Pittsburgh Will Be Improved Club: Barron To Use Regulars Today in Game With Cartersville

NEW MANAGER BELIEVES 'BUCS' IMPROVED TEAM

George Gibson Claims No Pennants But Will Have Hustlers.

By Russell J. Newland,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates may not turn up as formidable contenders for the 1932 National League pennant, but George Gibson, back at the helm of the club he once played for and later managed, is satisfied to take the season in stride, meanwhile building for the future.

One of the firebrands from the old school and a peppy catcher from 1908 to 1910, Manager Gibson has started to overhaul the Pittsburgh machine. The club that takes the field this season will directly contradict reference to the Pirates as "a silent team."

They whip it up on the slightest provocation now, Gibson saw to that. Part of the training camp routine at Paso Robles included instruction in "talking it up."

BASE RUNNING.
Base running also came in for much attention. It is an art that has to come back, says Gibson. Those players who showed little regard for "stride" were coached individually during the spring workouts.

The Pittsburgh pitching staff is a source of great satisfaction to the manager. Six veterans will shoulder the burden, provided that Herb Meiner, star right-hander, decides to give up his "holdout" role.

MEINER HOLDOUT.
Meiner refused to report for training but Pirate officials believe the matter will be settled soon. Other wise, Ray Kremer, Larry French, Glenn Spencer, Ervin Brame and Steve Swetonic are on the job and ready to go.

Charlie Wood, in a slump last season, is a southpaw from whom Gibson expects much. Swift, Bivin, Nigeling and Harris are youngsters who will be given every chance.

The men behind the plate are suitable to Gibson. Hal Finney and Earl Grace will handle the bulk of the work unless Bill Brenzel, rookie from the Coast League, gets going in his first year up.

In "Pie" Traynor the Pirates have one of the best third-basemen in baseball and his punch at the plate leaves little to be asked for. Gus Suhr has no opposition at first base but although his hitting was disappointing last year, Gibson is confident the big fellow will come into his own this year.

Pittsburgh's keystone combination gives Gibson some concern with an ailing veteran, Tommy Thevenow, at short, and somewhat unseasoned material at second base. Tony Piet and Howard Grosklos are youngsters battling for the second-base berth. Piet was farmed out to Wichita part of last season and hit at a .400 clip before being recalled. Thevenow, a splendid fielder, hurt his ankle in 1931. He is a weak hitter.

THE WARRIORS.
The Warner brothers, Lloyd and Paul, have center and right-field positions clinched. Lloyd is considered one of the best all-around performers in the circuit, while Paul, league-leading hitter a few seasons back, is still a capable workman.

Boston Down
On Sports,
Yes Sir

BOSTON, March 17.—(UP)—A move to abolish intercollegiate athletics at Boston University was given impetus today in the editorial columns of the Boston Beantop, published by students of the university.
The comic monthly's editorial complained that "a comparative handful of students who are not even members of the athletic teams are being paid" for intercollegiate athletics.
"The student body, as a whole," the editorial said, "does not give one big damn about athletics as they stand today at Boston University. The student body comes to this institution in spite of the fact that it is a place where the student body is 'used' as a means to turn away from here."
While athletic teams at other colleges "are used as instruments of favorable publicity," the Beantop said, Boston University teams would be "better off" without such publicity as results from teams "continually losing games, threatening to strike, feeling dissatisfied with the policy under which they are playing."

As an example of how few B. U. students are interested in athletics the Beantop writer declared that most coaches have trouble getting as many as 30 men out for a sport.

'It's News to Us,'
Says Chick Roos

While he admitted to newspapermen that he would like to have his freedom from the Atlanta club so as to go ahead and dicker for a new job, Johnny Dobbs made no mention of taking his case to Judge K. M. Landis while here Wednesday. Cracker officials declared last night.
"It's all news to us but if he had such intentions, it seems he would have mentioned them to us," F. H. (Chick) Roos declared.
Roos also stated that Dobbs and Cracker officials had reached a complete understanding when Barron was installed as manager on the terms of settlement and that there had been no discussion since.

Johnny Dobbs is reported, from sources as yet to prove reliable, to be considering an appeal to Judge Kenesaw M. Landis regarding his relations with the Atlanta baseball club.

The baseball officials would be unwise to become involved in anything which may tend to disrupt the present organization which is going ahead with a lot of enthusiasm.

Anything throwing the Crackers into a baseball controversy would work an undesired hardship on Red Barron and his efforts.

It was difficult to understand the attitude of the Cracker officials. Dobbs, the deposed manager, is under contract to them as much as they are to him. They would not employ him on a contract he was ready to fulfill. Yet he is held.

And what is most difficult to understand is why they should want to deduct from the sum due him what he might earn in another position in baseball. Whether the management be right or not in such a stand the fans will not think so. The club needs popularity.

Dobbs has worked no hardship on the club. If there is a new deal all around then why not pay off Johnny Dobbs and let him go his way. He certainly deserves no financial penalty.

The Constitution did not revive the Dobbs issue. It was revived by other sources and again made a baseball topic.

The Cracker officials owe it to themselves and to the fans to end it so that the baseball season may progress with amity and accord instead of hostility and chaos.

USE YOUR ARITHMETIC.

Dr. Clyde Rothwell Wilcox, who once taught me my splendid store of mathematics, will likely break up in guffaws when he hears that I have been utilizing the knowledge.

And yet that's what a part of the gloomy afternoon was spent in, using a pencil and paper, figuring up just how many baseball games the Cracker pitchers will win. Dr. Wilcox, who is now instructing the young men at Darlington school, at Rome, once said he wished he could put mathematics on a hammer and then strike your faithful old commentator right on the noggin with it. "It seems that's the only way I'll ever get math in your head," he said.

Using the Binomial theorem of X plus Y plus Z, plus A minus being equal to the sum of the corresponding square roots of the co-sign, one finds that the Crackers have what looks like a second-place, and maybe a first-place pitching staff.

Those pesky Barons won the pennant last season with 97 ball games. They had little or no opposition. A pennant should be won with little more than 90 games, or even less, if the competition is close.

But somehow I believe that Climax Blethen, the Maine hoose hunter; Andy Messenger and Bunney Hearn, two good right arms and a left, will win 50 ball games between them. (They laughed when he sat down to do a math problem.)

There are to be five class "A" pitchers. At least one other should add about 14 games. With a deft movement of the pencil we find that to be 64 ball games. Now suppose the remaining "A" man gets as many as nine. That's 73 ball games. Now, surely the two "B" pitchers will win as many as nine games each. Add those 18 to the 73 and there we are up in the gay 90's.

Little Rock was second last fall with 87.
And now that the math lesson is over for the day, let's go on with the story.

If I were one of those fellows who are always giving advice to Manager Red Barron I would say to stick a couple of those young collegians, or near collegians, in that infield and let them stay there.

It was quite apparent from the start that what the Brooklyn owners wanted was a man who would go to work and make for them a very dull baseball team that would probably win the pennant.

And so Max Carey, who is a gentleman who is strictly business and nothing else, was given the job which Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, who never was strictly business, had held long enough to make the Brooklyn owners millionaires instead of near-baseball-bankrupts, so they could gratify little whims like putting away the man who had done it.

The Brooklyn baseball club was for years the only really entertaining team in baseball. The Yankees had Ruth and he was an attraction. But the Brooklyns were just a lot of fun.

The Brooklyn fans, one learns, are quite hoited at the trading of Babe Hoiman to the Cincinnati Reds. And they will be more hoited as the year goes on and they watch a winning club go dully along.

Baseball, in late years, has grown terribly dull except in some few spots. Most of the players have become just fellows who go out there and pitch and catch the baseball and then hustle off. Anything to get it over with. And the reason that golf and other sports have gotten a hold and cut into baseball attendance is that they have made themselves more interesting. And baseball and baseball players, generally speaking, have been getting duller. And for that matter so have the baseball officials. They have been, generally speaking, getting duller than their players. And they are dull enough.

Just hitting a baseball (Ruth excepted), and just catching and throwing a baseball, isn't worth anybody's money. And that's about all the fans have been getting. The condition is so exaggerated that when a fellow comes along like Babe Herman, Hoiman to Brooklyn, or like Babe Ruth or like the Robins as a baseball team, they pack the house.

NO RULES AT ALL.

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson had no training rules. His training camp was one where the players got in shape themselves. His idea was that a player in the major leagues earning that salary ought to know enough to get in shape.

On the bench Your Uncle Wilbert jawed and argued with his players or cursed them and they cursed him. But they all liked him.

Once the Brooklyn Babe stole third with the bases full. They called them "The Happiness Boys" and they were.

But the thing a lot of people overlooked was that they played good baseball along with their comies.

Well, now they have calisthenics and curfew and a lot of systems and the Brooklyns are looking more and more like one of the old standardized ball clubs that are so very dull to watch.

HOME RUNS WIN FOR ATHLETICS OVER DODGERS

Coleman Hits Two, Bishop One; Wilson Gets Number Two.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Three home runs, two by Ed Coleman and one by Max Bishop, accounted for eight of the Athletics' runs as the American League champions defeated Brooklyn, 9 to 7, today.

Coleman, Pacific coast rookie, connected with his homers off Bill Clark, while Bishop hit his circuit drive off Waite Hoyt. Jack Quinn, who pitched the last three innings, was the only Dodger hurler not scored on.

Hack Wilson found the range for his second home run of the spring season in the fifth when Mahaffey was doing the pitching for the A's. Hack also poked out a double and a single. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—With George Pipgras and Walter Brown pitching a six-hit game, the New York Yankees handed the Boston Braves their fifth defeat of the spring exhibition season today. The score was 6 to 2.

Ren Chapman, leading base-stealer of the major leagues last year, led the Yankees' offensive, diving in two runs with a triple and a single. Babe Ruth connected with two singles before retiring in the seventh inning. Seibold, Zachary, Coleman and McAfee divided the Boston pitching assignment.

Senators.
BILLOXI, Miss., March 17.—(AP)—Five of the Washington Nationals are ill or injured.

Fred Marberry has the gripe; Roy Spencer is ill; Lloyd Brown has a sore pitching arm; Sam West has two bruised knees and Carl Reynolds is not feeling so well.

TIGERS 4; OAKLAND 0.
OAKLAND, Cal., March 17.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers made it three straight over the Oakland club of the Pacific coast Baseball league here today by winning 4 to 0.

Wyatt hurled the first five innings for the Tigers to hold the home team to five hits, Truitt Sewell, who pitched the last four innings, allowed but three hits. Wyatt got credit for the victory as he retired with a 1 to 0 lead.

Sewell made the going still easy for the Tigers by hitting a home run over the left-field fence in the seventh inning with Rogell on base.

REDS.
TAMPA, Fla., March 17.—(UP)—Babe Herman, new Cincinnati outfielder, today wired Manager Dan Wilbert Robinson, who never was strictly business, had held long enough to make the Brooklyn owners millionaires instead of near-baseball-bankrupts, so they could gratify little whims like putting away the man who had done it.

SMOKY FIELDER HITTING BETTER

Fitzgerald, Former Texas and A. A. Leaguer, Batters .300.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 17.—(AP)—Outfielder Howard Fitzgerald, who is almost certain to survive the slugging knife and remain as a regular outfielder with the Knoxville Smokies this summer, is a player whose batting has shown a steady improvement during the past few seasons.

A newcomer to the Southern league, Fitzgerald enjoyed a long reign of popularity with Wichita Falls in the Texas league, staying with the Spudgers from 1924 through 1930.

His batting average for 1928 in the Lone Star loop was .292, not a heavyweight figure for an outfielder. But he showed improvement the following year when he hit for .306 and came back in 1930 with a very creditable .331.

His 51 two-baggers that season gave him second ranking of the league in that department of swatting. He drove in 102 runs.

Last season, with Kansas City and Indianapolis, in the American association, Fitzgerald did not find class AA pitching so tough, for he combed it for a .327 mark.

The new Smoky ball hawk got his first professional baseball attention from the Philadelphia Athletics, who signed him in 1921 and shipped him to Johnson City for prepping. He came back to the A's for 1922, but was passed on to Amarillo, and then plucked by the Chicago Cubs, who placed him at Wichita Falls. He also has seen service with the Boston Red Sox.

Fitzgerald reported to the Smokies in excellent condition, having spent the winter hunting and fishing near his home at Eagle Lake, Texas.

FULLER FAVORED.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(UP)—Broadway's wise money boys laid themselves open for another run on their dwindling bank rolls tonight when they established Sammy Fuller, pudgy Bostonian, as an 8-to-5 favorite to defeat Billy Wallace, veteran ring campaigner of Cleveland, in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow.

They said that Eddie Ran was 8 to 5 over Pat Battalino and the Bat made them wrong, all wrong.

Reformed Shires
To Referee Bout

TAMPA, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Art (What's-You) Shires, who says he has reformed, has promised to appear in a boxing ring here tomorrow night. The once talkative baseball player-fighter was forced out of the prize ring a year ago by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Shires' reappearance will not be as a boxer, but as a referee, in the Relampago Saguerro-Petromike 10-round featured bout at Benjamin field, said Promoter George Kennedy. Shires is training at St. Petersburg, Fla., as first baseman for the Boston Braves.

Maple Leafs Boast Cosmopolitan Boss

Tom Daly Only Player To Hit Homer Before the King; Tells of Canada.

By Jimmy Jones.

Since he is said to be the only American ball player ever to hit a home run in the presence of the king of England, it occurred that Mr. Tom Daly, the amiable skipper of the Toronto baseball club, would be an excellent person to interview on a rainy day when there was nothing whatever happening of interest on the ball field.

So we came out point blank and asked Tom Daly (who is no relation to our Mr. Bill Daly) if it were true that he did hit the home run and if his royal highness, King George, did see him swat the ball.

"I hit the home run all right and I guess the king saw it if he happened to be looking, but the remarkable thing about it was that it was the only home run I hit in 10 years," declared Mr. Daly.

He explained that at the time he made the tour, he was a long distance hitter but that Jimmy Callahan, his manager, later decided to make a place hitter out of him and shortened his swing.

For 10 years Tom went without hitting another home run. Those one Sunday while playing in the Coast league, a sports writer bet Daly a new hat that he would not hit a home run during the season.

Tom Daly says that baseball goes very well in Canada but that hockey is the national sport. They have crowds of 12,000 out to see the games regularly. American football has yet to gain a foothold there. At present soccer is the closest approach.

Montreal and Toronto—the only Canadian cities in the international league—are strikingly different, Daly says. Montreal, which went to the British Empire when Montreal was beaten, is still a French city and boasts a couple of French newspapers.

STRICTLY ENGLISH.
Toronto, on the other hand, is strictly English and there are very few French there. The Toronto newspapers are printed in English, naturally.

Both Montreal and Toronto are proud of their franchises in the International league, but suffer a hardship in the matter of money exchange. Each club loses around $2,000 each year on trips across the border to play the six American teams in the league, due to the depreciation of the Canadian dollar, which loses around 22 cents on the exchange. In other words, if a ball player leaves Canada with $12 in Canadian dough, his purchase

SEVENTEEN MEN WILL MAKE TRIP, MANAGER SAYS

Rain Thursday Halts Practice; O'Connell and Morrison Injured.

By Jimmy Jones.

Provided the weather lives up to the forecast and the diamond is dried off sufficiently, Manager "Red" Barron plans to personally direct the Crackers against "Shorty" Smith's Cartersville club at Cartersville today.

The Cracker chief figures on leaving the city this morning at 11:30, by automobile, and will carry 19 players.

Contrary to earlier reports, Barron does not plan to use young players in this game but will start his experienced hands. The youngsters got in a seven-inning game with Georgia Tech Wednesday night and the veterans are in need of action.

PLAYERS.
The players who will make the trip today are as follows:
Pitchers: Garland, Hoarn, Blethen, Carrithers and Wedbe; first-basemen, Bejin and Rosenthal; second-basemen, Lynch and Roetz; shortstop, Goff; third-basemen, McKee and Martin; outfielders, McKee, Barnes and Carlie; catchers, Williams and Butler.

Johnny O'Connell, slated to become first-string catcher, will be unable to make the trip due to a badly strained left hand and neither will Johnny Morrison, veteran pitcher, who is suffering from an abscessed ear.

Morrison should be all right within a few days, but O'Connell will be out for some time and will not be able to play against Toronto Saturday.

TO GO ALONG.

Manager Barron and Coach Ruben Marquardt will go along with the players today, making 19 men in all. Barron very likely will use Wedbe and Carrithers against the Cartersville club.

The game is scheduled to start at 3 p. m.

Barron planned to communicate with Cartersville last night and determine the condition of the grounds.

It is fair I am sure we will play, however," Barron said.

The Cracker manager also stated last night that Johnny Chapman, the recalcitrant third baseman, had satisfied him that he wanted to play ball for the well-played game in this season and that he was counting on him to have a good year.

"HE'S ALL RIGHT."
"He's all right," Barron said. The Crackers were kept off the field yesterday because of a rainstorm. Grounds, but Barron gathered his men in the clubhouse for some "cerebral gymnastics" in the form of a lecture.

The first crack in the squad will come after Saturday's game with Toronto. Jack Sheehan is slated to leave the city Sunday with the players he will get in the first round.

Traveler 'Regs' Beat Rookies.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 17.—(AP)—The Traveler regulars defeated the recruits in the first game of the training season today, 3 to 1.

The first crack in the squad will come after Saturday's game with Toronto. Jack Sheehan is slated to leave the city Sunday with the players he will get in the first round.

AUBURN, Ala., March 17.—When Captain Clifford Smith, Auburn's all-time league and all-American pitcher, is not appearing on the mound against the Tigers' strongest opponents during the next campaign, Coach Sam McAllister will use him in the outfield, probably in right field.

Smith, a senior, of Tebula, Miss., has turned in his largest number of notable achievements on the diamond while "forming" the rubber, but is also listed as a heavy hitter and stellar fly chaser. He would be a welcome addition to the college pitching staff and outfield in the country.

Besides winning exactly half of the games won by the Dixie league and southern conference champions last season, the Plainsmen leader batted .371, being credited with 13 hits in 25 official trips to the plate. He was used in several games as a pinch batsman. His record as a member of the hurling corps was nine triumphs and one defeat.

In 1931, Smith was given much practice in shagging flies, but because of his size and lack of speed, he is not appearing on the mound against the Tigers' strongest opponents during the next campaign, Coach Sam McAllister will use him in the outfield, probably in right field.

Knowing that he will have a hard time replacing Burt, Hodges, Pate and Harris, McAllister has decided that it will be necessary to send his brilliant captain to the outfield in the most important series. McAllister has had Smith in right and center field on the second team in the five practice games to date, and in each fray he has proven that he is a superior player in the outer patrols as well as on the slab.

As an outfielder, he is expected to be as potent with the willow as he was last year, and it is believed that he will continue to field with the best. He is a born competitor, a true athlete, and is slated to enter professional baseball in May.

Stripp Signs With Dodgers

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17.—(UP)—Joe Stripp, infielder, obtained by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the deal which sent Babe Herman to Cincinnati, signed his player contract here today. It was understood that the contract called for payment of $12,000. Tony Cucinello, obtained in the same deal, also arrived at the camp here.

Wycoff To Wrestle Middlekauff Here Next Tuesday Night

FORMER JACKET STAR ATHLETE MEETSEX-GATOR

Doug, a Weber Product, Has Made Fine Progress in Game.

Douglas Wycoff, one of the great of Georgia Tech's athletic heroes in football and baseball, will appear here Tuesday night in a feature wrestling match with Bill Middlekauff, former University of Florida football star and a wrestler well known to Atlantans.

In arranging for Wycoff to appear here, Matchmaker Henry Weber has answered the appeal of literally hundreds of fans who have followed the wrestling career of the big fellow with interest.

Wycoff began training last summer. He played some pro football but went back to wrestling. He has been training and studying in New York and has already appeared in enough matches to make him experienced enough to meet anyone in the game.

"I wanted to match Doug with a college man and I knew Middlekauff would be a real test for him," said Weber. "I think the fans will like it. I will have a strong semi-wind-up."

Weber is the man who sent Wycoff to the east, where there is a gymnasium specializing in the training of wrestlers. Weber is proud of the Atlanta boys he has sent there, Frank Speer being another of his products.

value is only about $10 when he hits this country.

In spite of this expense, however, Toronto usually trains in the south. This is the club's first visit to Atlanta, following Reading, which was here last year.

Daly has around 25 players with him. With the aid he plans to get from Detroit, he hopes to get the club higher than fifth place, where the Leafs finished in 1931, a few points behind Montreal. In young Harry Davis he has one of the finest first-sackers in the International. Daly also likes his outfield trio of Frank Doljac, Arthur McHenry and Hughes.

McHenry, he says, has a fine arm and looks like a natural hitter. Doljac, who belongs to the Tigers, is a great young ball player. Barnes, Cantrell, Mills, Milligan and Smith are his veteran pitchers and he believes Abberbeck, a young right-hander from New York city, will come through. Roy Morehart, Ralph Michaels and Oily Sax are all experienced infielders.

BURCHELL HERE. With the Toronto club, which is stopping at the Georgian Terrace, is Fred Burchell, secretary. Burchell says the International is on a firm basis. Jersey City is the only club having any trouble right now. Newark is one of the best cities, he says.

And by the way, we asked Tom Daly if Canada's plenitude of good hard beverages had any effect on the athletes.

"We don't notice it," he replied, "but we do miss that beer a little."

Carry Atlanta Epworth League Hopes

Young ladies pictured above will carry Atlanta's hopes in the Southeastern Epworth league basketball tournament to be played at Nashville Saturday. They represent Druid Hills and will be strong contenders for the championship at Nashville. They are, left to right, seated, Sarah Jackson, Beth Andrews, Dot Oglesby, Lee Bond, Sarah Newbourn and Winnie Clark. Back row, left to right, Amy Dillard, Lil Barker, Jay Cloud, Frances Bond and Aileen Kenner. Next is Coach Ernest Littleton. The girls leave Atlanta late today for the tournament. The boys' team will also leave today to compete in their division of the tournament. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

Another Champion.

Add to the list of sport's Alexanders the name of Alfred Banuet. Millions of baseball and football fans probably have never heard of him, or seen him in action, which is a pity. For as a mechanism of co-ordinated nerve and muscle he ranks with the Babe Ruths, Bill Tildens and Bobby Joneses. Banuet has been for the last three years unchanged king of the handball courts, and in every city and town in the country there are handball fans as rabid as the rabidest fight fan.

Now Banuet plans to carry his stamina and punch into the squared circle. Like man a good man before him, he'll find the ring has its own demands. Even his catlike agility and seeming indefatigability will not hurt him to the top without a punch or exceptional cleverness.

Banuet aspires to be welterweight champion. He is now training in San Francisco, under shrewd handlers. From time to time you hear from the old-timers of the ring that modern fighters lack most is stamina. "You can't picture Dempsey or even Schmeling fighting fifty rounds," say they.

Well, there is the matter of the slow rounds of the olden days to be taken into consideration. At any rate, Banuet has remarkable legs and wind. He should thus have a great edge on a lot of fighters, if for no other reason. But how will he like it the first time a jab hits his front-most projection?

Wieman at Princeton.

Princeton gets on of the best line coaches of the country in Tad Wieman, late of Michigan and Minnesota. Wieman has been recognized for some years as a star builder of a strong, alert forward wall, and if there is any fair material around to work with, the Tiger line of 1932 will hold its own.

Wieman did fine work with Michigan. Later on Dan McGugin had him at Vanderbilt. Later he went to Minnesota, so he has had more than his share of variety and experience. Michigan has always been noted for smart, hard charging lines, so Wieman came up in a high-class school of forward play.

It is interesting to note that Princeton apparently is making a clean sweep for the first time in Tiger football history. The material now at hand may not match that at Yale, Harvard, Army and other eastern centers, but at least it will be going somewhere before 1932 is over. And the general direction will not be backwards.

Two Brooklyn base-runners slid into third base at one and the same moment, but Max Carey might arise and suggest that Rome was not built in a day and that it took Connie Mack six years to poke his gray head out of the cellar.

The $10,000 golf scrap, now under way at Coral Gables, should find any number of quivering nerves at work, considering the general scarcity of $10,000 bills. And one of these may ride on every putt, with a field which includes so many stars. One of the main problems will be stopping Tommy Armour, who has been one of the hardest of them all to stop this season.

Those slightly discouraged about their golf might consider the fact that Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, who led the field at Augusta, had passed the age of 30 before she ever swung a driver or tossed a short pitch to the green.

And yet today few of the younger stars look forward to any soft morning or afternoon when Mrs. Hill is waiting at the first tee.

And the answer is that she never plays a careless shot of any kind. (Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PETRELS READY FOR HARTFORD GAME AT MACON

Anderson Plans To Take 14 Players for Saturday Opener.

By Jack Troy.

The old familiar cry, "batter up!" will ring out for Coach Frank Anderson's 1932 Oglethorpe baseball team Saturday afternoon in Macon. The Petrels meet Hartford, of the Eastern league, in an exhibition game to open their season.

Although a combination of cold and rainy weather has prevented consistent practicing, the Oglethorpe team, which got an early start, is in good condition, and looks to be one of the stronger clubs in the Dixie College league, which moves away from the barrier on April 1. With the Petrels in a lead-off role against the University of Florida at Gainesville.

Coach Anderson plans to take about 14 players to Macon Saturday. He would take more and give every candidate on the squad a chance to play if the necessary transportation were available. There are only three cars, however, and the number who can go hence is limited.

The squad was not called out Thursday because of the rain but will resume practice this afternoon if the weather permits.

Coach Anderson has not changed his plans of using three different battery combinations against Hartford.

The veteran, Charley Mitchell, cool, effective right-hander, will start the game, with Craven, a fiery player who broke his nose in a collision with the stands at Macon last year, catching.

After this pair has worked its share of the game, R. Clark, promising sophomore hurler, will take the mound, with Marion Whaley, a heavy hitter, going behind the plate.

The famous Gordon Institute pair—Lefty Dixon and Charley Vance—will finish the game. Both are sophomores and both are most promising prospects. Big league scouts have had them under close scrutiny for a long time.

The infield is just about set. The Petrels will take the field with Park Bryant on first, Munford Whitely at second, Hal Martin at short and Frank Anderson Jr. on third. This is a strong defensive combination and in addition packs a hefty punch at the plate.

Eddie Anderson, who follows the long line of second-basing Andersons of Oglethorpe, will make his debut during the game. Frank, Coach Anderson's other son on the squad, has been shifted to third to take care of the vacancy left by Claud Herring, All-American college player, who is now trying out with the Crackers.

In the outfield Charley George, a sophomore, will play left; Sam Baker will play center and Jack Moore will hold down his customary right-field berth. Here is an outfield that has all the speed, fly-judging and hitting regulars necessary. It will take a "base hit in any man's park" to fall safe.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock, Macon time, which is 1 o'clock, Atlanta time. It will be played at Luther Williams field.

The season's complete schedule: March 30—Tifton Argies at Tifton. April 1—Florida at Gainesville. April 5—Atlanta at Ponce de Leon. April 11—Georgia at Athens. April 12—Tech at Ponce de Leon. April 20—Georgia at Hernando field. May 4—Fort Benning at Columbus. May 6—Auburn at Auburn. May 13—Auburn at Hernando field.

PLAYERS EAT INTO CONDITION FOR BROOKLYN

Carey Declares Club Is in Better Condition Than Ever.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Baseball history is crowded with the table-sitting achievements of players who have eaten themselves right out of the big leagues. Among this year's rapidly reforming cast of Brooklyn Dodgers, the process is being reversed, with the result that a curious collection of cast-offs is entering the league pennant race.

This renaissance was bound to follow the passing of the old warrior, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, and the succession to leadership of Professor Max Carey. Calisthenics, salary cuts, the big deal with Cincinnati and, finally, regulation of the commissary department, all have contributed to the most interesting shake-ups in recent big league history.

Carey credits the so-called Waite-Hoyt diet for his preliminary success in reducing waist lines and avoirdupois. Discarded by the Athletics and American league, Hoyt joined Brooklyn with a promise to behave and win 20 ball games. He reported in the best condition of years, minus 30 pounds of excess weight, and filled with the zeal of a missionary.

With the veteran pitcher as an example and preacher of the dietary doctrine, Carey persuaded heavyweights like Hack Wilson, Dazzy Vance and Babe Phelps to adopt Hoyt's eating gospel. Like the calisthenics, the diet's popularity has spread throughout the camp and even the correspondents are reducing to a limited extent.

In brief, the Hoyt diet involves classification of foods. Breakfast is limited to uncooked fruits, with a cup of coffee. For lunch, starchy foods may be eaten in good quantity. Proteins are confined to the evening meal. No water is to be taken with any meal but a glass of milk may go with each.

"They may kid us all they want to," says Carey. "But take my word for it that this club will be in condition to play better ball than ever. This is especially true of our veterans."

BISSENETTE HURT.
The only casualty now is Del Bissette, first sacker, whose left ankle is in a cast as a result of a pulled tendon, but it has upset Carey's infield plans, just when it looked as though the deal with Cincinnati had completed them.

Bissette probably will not be in shape to start the season, though he should be all right within five weeks. Meanwhile Carey may juggle the two hard-hitting players he got from the Reds by assigning Joe Stripp to first base and Tony Cuccinello to third, with Glenn Wright at short and Mickey Finn on second. With Bissette in shape, however, the lineup calls for Cuccinello at second, and Stripp on third base. Reis and Slade are in reserve.

Babe Herman is gone but Carey believes this lost punch and color will be offset by Hack Wilson. The ex-Cub cloutier will work with Lefty O'Doul and Johnny Frederick in the outfield, unless like Bonny's hitting continues too valuable to be omitted.

GOOD STAFF.
Carey's pitching strength represents an embarrassment of riches. He and his coaches, Casey Stengel and Otto Miller, have been staying awake late of night trying to pick the nine best men from an assortment of 16 pitchers. Vance, Hoyt and Watson Clark top the list. Of the Hartford recruits, Van Mungo and Arthur Jones, the youngest two twirlers in camp, appear best. Old Jack Quinn, Lefty Heimach and Babe Phelps will stay. That leaves one vacant spot to be filled from pitchers like Joe Shaute, Hollis Thurston, Phil Gullivan, Austin Moore, Clyde Day and others.

Al Lopez and Clyde Sukeforth, obtained from the Reds, will handle the backstopping with some aid from Val Picinich.

GRAND NATIONAL AMERICAN CHOICE IS SEA SOLDIER

Heartbreak Hill, Irish Bred Juniper, Favored in Betting Odds.

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 17.—(AP)—Two American horses, one a son of the mighty Man o' War, tonight were the chief hopes for a United States victory in the 93d running of the grand national at Aintree tomorrow.

Heartbreak Hill, an Irish bred juniper, owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird Jr., was the betting favorite at odds of 17 to 2, while Sea Soldier, the only American-bred horse in the race and owned by a syndicate of Chicago sportsmen, was the sensational choice of Uncle Sam.

Eleven other American-owned horses were eligible to start the trying four and one-half mile journey with its 30 difficult obstacles of water, brush and stone, but only John Hay Whitney's Dusty Foot and R. K. Mellon's Glangesha figured in the official betting at the Victoria Club's final callover tonight. The others were rated as having very little chance of winning the purse of 9,000 pounds.

Heartbreak Hill forged to the front as the public choice when odds on C. R. Taylor's Grakle, winner of the race in record time last year, were lengthened to 9 to 1. Mrs. M. A. Gemmell's Greengrass, high weight of the field with 175 pounds and winner in 1929, was the third choice at 13 to 1.

British turfmen paid little attention to Sea Soldier here. He is not in the official betting and in the unofficial odds is considered to have no better than a 50 to 1 chance. He has been described as an American hope but not a promise.

Every woman golfer in the city, particularly those who desire to join the Piedmont Association, is eligible and invited to participate in today's event.

Boxers, Wrestlers Hold Fast Bouts

Fast bouts dotted the combination boxing and wrestling card sponsored by the Antlers Lodge, Junior Order of Elks, at Tait hall Thursday night. The card featured prep boxers and wrestlers of the city. In the boxing R. Shields, bantamweight class, scored a knockout over Son Polson; Hoffman, a featherweight, defeated Alterman, and Fitzgerald, lightweight, defeated M. Rice.

There were three bouts on the wrestling card, and Ben Burnett, 138, defeated "Schmoze" Beckus, 135; Tommy Haygood and Dick Jones battled to a draw, and Bill Spratt won over Gene Lowry, who was unable to return to the ring to finish the bout.

Decatur Hoopsters Are Honor Guests

NEW YORK, March 17.—(P)

After dropping spiritedly through most of today's session, the bond market turned around in the last hour and registered a number of fairly substantial rallies.

Notwithstanding the various recoveries, the average for 60 corporate bonds closed 1.10 of a point lower. Activity was slightly under yesterday's, sales totaling $9,232,000.

The United States government list was the one factor in the hand's somewhat cloudy proceedings. All of the Liberties and Treasuries advanced fractionally to around the year's high level. Cutting of the Bank of England's discount rate apparently led some dealers to anticipate a further reduction by the federal reserve. After the close, however, the Treasury department announced its rate was unchanged.

Continued sharp declines in Argentine government obligations was somewhat unsettling to the foreign department. All of these loans added from 2-1/2 to 7-1/4 points to previous losses.

British 5-1/2s, on the other hand, were in demand at an advance of 1 point and German government 5-1/2s and 7s rallied for gains of 3-4 to 2 points. Kreuger & Toll 5s also recovered. Japanese loans were easy.

Railroad bonds were subjected to considerable pressure at one time, but there were some gains in the other hand. The carrier averages under those of yesterday.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(P)

After dropping spiritedly through most of today's session, the bond market turned around in the last hour and registered a number of fairly substantial rallies.

Notwithstanding the various recoveries, the average for 60 corporate bonds closed 1.10 of a point lower. Activity was slightly under yesterday's, sales totaling $9,232,000.

The United States government list was the one factor in the hand's somewhat cloudy proceedings. All of the Liberties and Treasuries advanced fractionally to around the year's high level. Cutting of the Bank of England's discount rate apparently led some dealers to anticipate a further reduction by the federal reserve. After the close, however, the Treasury department announced its rate was unchanged.

Continued sharp declines in Argentine government obligations was somewhat unsettling to the foreign department. All of these loans added from 2-1/2 to 7-1/4 points to previous losses.

British 5-1/2s, on the other hand, were in demand at an advance of 1 point and German government 5-1/2s and 7s rallied for gains of 3-4 to 2 points. Kreuger & Toll 5s also recovered. Japanese loans were easy.

Railroad bonds were subjected to considerable pressure at one time, but there were some gains in the other hand. The carrier averages under those of yesterday.

VALUES OF GOLD

CLOSE IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, March 17.—(P)

The new market showed little inclination to follow the big board in its afternoon rally today.

While the smaller market developed a little better tone, price trends were mixed at the finish. Trading continued at the 200,000-share-a-day pace.

Electric Bond & Share sagged 1-1/4 to 1-1/2, and declined to improve. Gulf rallied 2-1/4 points, as shorts were evenly disappointed that the large deficit reported for 1931 did not bring out more selling.

American Commercial Alcohol new stock was a firm spot in the industrial, rising more than 2 points.

NET PROFIT OF G. M. C.

$2.45 A SHARE IN '31

NEW YORK, March 17.—(UP)

Net profit of General Motors Corporation during 1931 amounted to $2,450,000, equal to $2.45 a share on common stock, compared with $151,000,992, or $3.25 a share in 1930, the annual report of the company disclosed today.

Despite the decline in earnings during the past year, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of the company, in his position of the corporation's current offerings justifies belief that General Motors will more than hold its own with respect to the distribution of the available business during 1932.

Based upon automobile registrations in the United States, Sloan declared, "General Motors scored the highest percentage of the total passenger car business in 1931, compared with 34.5 per cent in 1930."

The balance sheet of the company as of December 31, 1931, showed assets of $888,540,729, against liabilities of $388,502,579, against a net worth of $500,038,150 at the close of 1931, while current liabilities on the respective dates were $88,540,729 and $88,540,729. Total assets were $1,300,267,222, against $1,315,813,059 at the end of 1930.

Dividend payments in 1931 aggregated $130,875,000, compared with $140,088,682 in 1930, the company's surplus being reduced from $344,795,000 to $203,912,500. Reconstruction Finance Corporation and banking interests had agreed upon a loan policy with regard to the common carriers financing, today a reversal of the downward trend of the stock market.

These developments caused a lifting of selling pressure, today a substantial volume of buying orders which resulted in an impressive rally in prices. The fact that the market was able to maintain its upward movement, in spite of the close was considered encouraging.

Another favorable development was the announcement of a reduction in the rate of interest on the $100,000,000 loan from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent, but as expected, no change occurred in the New York Federal Reserve bank's discount rate.

The statement of earnings published by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway for February, together with reports from Washington to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and banking interests had agreed upon a loan policy with regard to the common carriers financing, today a reversal of the downward trend of the stock market.

These developments caused a lifting of selling pressure, today a substantial volume of buying orders which resulted in an impressive rally in prices. The fact that the market was able to maintain its upward movement, in spite of the close was considered encouraging.

Line after line of the tiny enemy warriors poured across the rolling country toward Tarzan of the Apes. It reminded him of the incoming rollers of the ocean's surf, each drop of which was harmless but, in their countless numbers, combined into a relentless and terrifying force of destruction. The ape-man glanced at his leafy bough and smiled a trifle ruefully. But now his whole attention was riveted by the fighting in the first two lines of the advancing horde.

Racing neck and neck with the Veltorismakian warriors were the Ant Men of the king's outpost and the thousands who had reinforced them. Each had selected an enemy rider whom he sought to strike from his saddle. The riding of the Minunians was superb; their apparently effortless control of their swift steeds bordered upon the miraculous. Now a warrior would clear an adversary, and as he rose above him cut down viciously with his rapier at the foe's head.

Man after man was struck from his saddle while the riderless diadems leaped forward with the vanguard. There was scarce time for Tarzan to catch more than a fleeting impression of this swift moving spectacle before the great horde swarmed down upon him. With his leafy bough the ape-man had thought to sweep the little men from his path. But friend and foe were now so intermingled that he dared not attempt it for fear of wounding and injuring one of the warriors of his hosts.

He raised the bough above his head and waited until the first lines should have passed him and then, with only the Ant Men's attention about him, Tarzan thought to brush them aside and break the center of their charge. He saw the surprised expressions upon the faces of the men of Veltorismakus as they passed near him—surprise, but no fear—and he heard their shouts as one more fortunate than his fellows was able to rise closer to the ape-man and cut viciously at his legs as the rider sped past.
